Battle of Bands Friday

DEXTER -- The Dexter Jaycees will hold a Battle of the Bands Friday in the Dexter National Guard Armory. Bands will be competing for first place $125 and a chance to play in the state Battle of the Bands. Second prize is $50. The winning band will play for a chance at the Armory, which will last till midnight Friday.

Morley To Take Auditions

MORLEY -- The Morley Rotary Club will take auditions for its annual talent contest from 2 till 5 p.m. Saturday, April 19, and 26, at Scott Central High School. Further information can be obtained by calling Bill Keefer at 262-3479 in Morley.

Spring Colors to Peak

BRANSON, Mo. (AP) — The spring season's outdoor color should be at its peak the weekend of April 19-20.

William Todd, a Department of Conservation forester, said Friday rebuds are about half open and dogwoods are beginning to bloom. Peach and wild plum trees are also showing their spring finery, he said.

Jefferson City officials of the department report the central part of the state is close to the deep Ozarks in spring blooming.

13 Protestors To Appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorneys for 13 persons found guilty of disorderly conduct in a protest march during the Democratic National Convention say they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

The defendants were convicted Monday by Magistrate Arthur L. Dunne of Circuit Court after the longest disorderly conduct trial in Chicago history.

Dunne levied fines from $200 to $400 each plus costs, but stayed the penalties pending the outcome of post-trial motions. A hearing on motions was set for May 9.

"I firmly believe," Dunne said in his decision, "that our cities, and the residents of these cities, can and must be protected by their government from noisy, chanting, shouting, marching, threatening picketers who, under the guise of free speech, hurl pieces of brick, stones and fireworks, bent on filling the minds of men and women and children with fear and hysteria."

One defendant, Miss Patricia Saltonstall, said after the court session: "We believe just as much in the First Amendment's rights."

Two Shots Fired

Police reported two gun shots were fired early this morning behind Hon's Grocery on South Scott no damage was reported. A .22 caliber bullet broke a window in an upstairs apartment Saturday night above the store. There was also a window broken with a brick Saturday night.

Police also reported this morning that Fred Frazier, 226 Bowman, was charged with assault.

Columbian Airliner Hijacked

HAVANA (AP) — A hijacked Colombian airliner landed in Havana Monday night after a stopover in Cartagena where authorities refused to refuel the plane for three hours.

The Sociedad Aeronautica de Medellin (SAM) airliner was carrying 25 passengers and four crewmen on a flight from Medellin to Barranquilla. There was no immediate word when the plane and passengers would be released.

Authorities said there were three hijackers, one of them a young man who held a knife to the pilot's throat and ordered him to fly to Cuba. The pilot replied he did not have enough fuel for the DC4 to make the 60-mile flight and would have to land at Cartagena, on the Caribbean coast of Colombia.

Progress on the Kingsway Plaza, located on S. Kingshighway and Murray Lane, will continue this month toward the formation of a 310,000 square foot of building space, according to Shirley Staples, contractor for Inland Construction company, Charleston.

The first two buildings destined to be completed by the first of the year or early spring are the J. C. Penney Company and Britt's Department Stores. The Penney Company is located on the west central portion of the plaza, and the Britt's building on the southeast corner, nearest S. Kingshighway.

The Penney building will be 180 by 356 feet and will contain 69,605 square feet, with 3,000 square feet for auto supplies, and mechanical room, while the Britt building will be 200 by 300 feet to enclose 60,000 square feet of floor space, with an additional 6,600 mezzanine floor.

A unique mall will cover the entire plaza walkway to all buildings, except the Sawey Super Market and parking area, which is estimated to cover a million square feet. Located in the mall, which will average 40 to 50-foot widths, will be rest areas, numerous planters, and a large revolving circular new auto display.

The Safeway store will be along Murray Lane and face S. Kingshighway. It will contain 17,532 square feet. The foundation will be started in two weeks.

The T G and Y Variety store will be located on the north side of Britt's, across the mall facing S. Kingshighway and near the center of the Plaza. A 40-foot mall will run north and south from the Britt building. The foundation is now being poured for the 22,580 square foot TG and Y building.

Smaller store units in clusters of four to six, will contain an area of 184 by 125 feet, or the area will be divided into four buildings measuring 21 by 40 feet, and two measuring 42.6 by 84 feet, all to face the south mall.

A 30-foot mall will run 250 feet from the east side of the Plaza to the end of the Penny building.

Two entrances to the mall will be on the S. Kingshighway side, and two on the Murray Lane side, the later area will have five rest areas.

All malls will have suspended acoustical ceilings with large skylights.

Also under construction this year will be a theater, just north of the Penney building, measuring 100 by 125 feet, and located at the west of the theater will be another complex of four smaller shops. This area is now located near the offices of the construction trailers, and will have a large paved parking area.

A final group of small shops will be located on a section now referred as sections H and JG facing S. Kingshighway on the east.

Judge M. E. Montgomery this morning sentenced Robert Davis, 17, 114 Sixth, and Steve Mattison, 18, route four, Sikeston, to 60 days in the Scott County Jail for having illegal possession of beer.

The sentences and $50 fines were imposed after Judge Montgomery gave the youths an opportunity to tell liquor authorities where they got the beer. James E. Moore III, assistant Scott County prosecuting attorney, told Judge Montgomery the youths claim to have found the beer in a ditch.

"The beer was cold, however, when they were arrested," Moore said.

The offense, to which both pleaded guilty, occurred April 7. Judge Montgomery, upon deciding not to believe the beer in ditch discovery story, told the youths:

"You know the facts. I don't believe what you are saying."

Robert Wallace, 138 Fourth, was sentenced to 90 days and fined $50 for having illegal possession of intoxicants. Moore told the court Wallace had been arrested in 1966 on the same charge and had been arrested seven times since 1966 by Sikeston police on various charges. Wallace was also fined

$10 for improper vehicle registration.

Gary Wayne Burnes, Morehouse, was fined $25 and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail for improper vehicle registration. The sentence will be stayed if the fine and court costs are paid by tomorrow morning.

The stay of sentence came after the court was informed Burnes' wife had a baby last night.

Bill "Will" Chapman, route four, Sikeston, was given a 60-day suspended jail sentence for assault. He was also fined $5 and costs for the offense.

Sikeston Attorney Margaret Scott was appointed counsel for Jessie Lee "Shake" Davis, Sikeston, who is charged with auto theft. The case was continued until next week.

Esther Storey, 846 Vernon, was fined $100 for driving while intoxicated. Her driver's license was revoked for one year.

Jerry James, 114 Fourth, was fined $222 for driving an overweight truck. Pending good behavior, $111 of the fine was suspended.

A warrant was issued for Larry Pyatt, Mimosa Drive, who failed to appear in court on a no driver's license charge.

Nelda Miller, Dexter, was fined $36 for speeding. Michael Clements, 707 Troy, was fined $10 for the same offense.

David Entekin, Cape Girardeau, was fined $10 for careless and imprudent driving. Pearl Seabough, also of Cape Girardeau, was fined $10 on the same charge.

Willie Lame, 307 Alabama, was fined $10 for failure to have a driver's license.

John Tarkley, 219 Edmundson, was fined $5 for speeding.

Louis Ogelvie, Fisk, was fined $10 for failure to have adequate brakes.

A charge of felonious theft was continued for Albert Ray Jr., Sikeston, who last week was charged with stealing furniture from Tommie Lane, who lives about four miles north of Sikeston.

He is charged with stealing a gas range, refrigerator, two couches, a dresser, two mattresses, two bed springs, six sheets, four curtains, eight picture frames and various cooking utensils.

A careless and imprudent driving charge was dismissed for George Finnick, Scott City. Court costs were certified by the state.

An improper vehicle registration charge was dismissed against Hershel Duncan, 418 Illinois. He, however, will pay $11.50 court costs.

North Korea Says Missing U.S. Plane Shot Down

TOKYO (AP) — The North Koreans, who captured the intelligence ship Pueblo, reported their air force shot down a large U.S. reconnaissance plane today. The U.S. Defense Department said a Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 aboard was missing in the Sea of Japan.

Japanese fishing boats joined U.S. planes in a search for survivors. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow asked the Foreign Ministry for the assistance of any Soviet ships in the area.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the Navy EC121 plane was flying "a routine reconnaissance track" which kept it at least 50 nautical miles from the North Korean coastline.

The Pentagon did not immediately confirm that the North Koreans shot down the huge electronics-packed aircraft but said only that a broad search was launched for the plane and its crew of 31 in the Sea of Japan.

At the Capitol, however, Vice Adm. J. B. Colwell, deputy chief of naval operations, talked as though hostile action was involved.

He called the incident "a clear case of international piracy and a breach of international law." He talked briefly with newsmen before going into a closed session of the House Armed Services Committee. He declined to give further details in public.

At the Pentagon, Daniel Z. Henkin, the Defense Department's chief spokesman, dodged all questions on what may have happened but said "the aircraft was in communication with its base during its mission."

The North Korean news agency, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, claimed the plane intruded deep into North Korean air space and was shot down at 1:50 p.m.—11:50 p.m. EST Monday.

Henkin told newsmen the unarmed plane, jammed with six tons of electronic equipment including radar and gear to intercept radio messages, "was flying a routine reconnaissance track similar to hundreds of missions which have been flown over international waters in that area since 1950."

Aboard the plane, flying out of Atsugi, Japan, was a crew of 30 Navy men and one Marine enlisted man.

"We have no information at this time which confirms the sighting of any survivors," Henkin said.

The U.S. destroyers Tucker and Dale, based at Sasebo, Japan, were dispatched to the general area, within 200 miles of where the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 83 crewmen were captured last year.

In advance of the two destroyers, the Navy sent a big HC130 Hercules rescue aircraft accompanied by a KC135 tanker and combat patrol cover.

Henkin estimated the two destroyers would reach the search and rescue area about 8 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Seas in the area were described as moderate with waves of about four feet and winds of 10 to 16 knots. The air temperature was reported 10 to 16 degrees above freezing temperature, with the sea slightly warmer.

The broadcast gave no information on the fate of those aboard.

It said only that the North Korean air force shot the plane down at a high altitude "by showering fire of revenge upon it."

A spokesman said the flight began about 7:10 a.m. and the aircraft commander was under orders to approach no closer than 50 miles to the coast of North Korea.

The EC121 is heavily loaded with electronic gear, as was the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo which was captured off the North Korean coast on Jan. 23, 1968. The U.S. claimed at the time the ship was in international waters about 25 miles off the North Korean coast.

Search operations today apparently were centered within 200 miles of where the Pueblo and its 83 crewmen were captured. The crew was released late last year.

The missing airplane is a converted Lockheed Super Constellation which has a big hump in the top of the fuselage to carry radar and other monitoring devices.

"It is a large-crew airplane," the spokesman said, confirming that 31 men would not be an unusual number to be aboard.

The monitoring equipment that the stern warning of the requires a number of operators. Korean People's Army is not empty talk and the Korean People's Army counters any provocation of the U.S. imperialist aggressors instantly with a hundred-fold, thousand-fold retaliatory blow," the broadcast said.

The Pentagon said an air search was being made approximately 95 miles southeast of Chongjin, North Korea.

About the time of the announcement in Washington, the U.S. Navy in Saigon abruptly cancelled an awards ceremony Wednesday aboard the aircraft carrier Ranger off Vietnam. A Navy spokesman in Saigon said he did not know if the cancellation was directly connected with the plane incident.

South Vietnam's defense minister and other officials had been scheduled to go aboard the Ranger to present medals to about 50 U.S. Navy men.

consumption of ammunition in Vietnam," a cutback of the antiballistic missile program proposed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and "modification" of purchases of short-range attack missiles.

Another $1 billion of the reductions was attributed to whittling down another Johnson plan—never transmitted to Congress but included in his January budget—to increase Social Security benefits.

Nixon called for a 7 per cent increase in those benefits and proposed liberalization of the retirement test so retired persons can retain their benefits while receiving increased outside earnings.

Johnson had proposed a 10 per cent boost at a cost of $1.6 billion.

Johnson's budget envisioned outlays totaling $195.3 billion. Uncontrollable changes such as interest on the national debt and farm price supports boosted these to a "corrected" total of $196.9 billion, Budget Bureau Director Robert P. Mayo said.

The Nixon budget, he added, assumes outlays of $192.9 billion.

The original Johnson forecast of a $3.4 billion surplus next year has been scaled down to $1.8 billion, Mayo said. The $5.8 billion that now represents the 1970 surplus target figure results from combining the $1.8 billion and $4 billion.

Nixon Begins Spelling out Details of Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveiled today more details about budget cuts said to represent "hard choice and potentially unpopular decisions." The only agency to wind up with more money is the Justice Department.

Announcing new spending figures for each agency under a revised budget calculated to produce a $5.8 billion surplus in the fiscal year starting July 1, Nixon revealed more than half of the $4 billion in reductions he is claiming come out of defense and military-aid programs and scaled down legislation to increase Social Security benefits.

The cut in planned military spending, put at $1.1 billion, was attributed largely to "lower consumption of ammunition in Vietnam," a cutback of the antiballistic missile program proposed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and "modification" of purchases of short-range attack missiles.

Another $1 billion of the reductions was attributed to whittling down another Johnson plan—never transmitted to Congress but included in his January budget—to increase Social Security benefits.

Jefferson City (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes brought his total capital improvements budget up to $43.4 million Monday.

He recommended to the Missouri Legislature an additional $35,040,802 and urged it to get on with the job of raising the money.

Now $43,475,842 would go to make capital improvements from General Revenue. Money from special funds such as highway, conservation, park and others, would raise the grand total to $46,924,842.

Hearnes' latest move was based on his earlier recommendation that the legislature enact revenue bills to provide at least an additional $80 million a year.

In his message, sent by messenger to the House and Senate, Hearnes said:

"The House of Representatives has now passed and sent to the Senate revenue producing measures which, if the Senate concurs, will allow the general assembly to adopt the attached recommendations."

"I urge the early limitations," consideration and passage by the Senate of House-passed revenue producing measures and for one to serve subsequent passage of my Caruthersville-Hayward and recommendations for capital $434,393 to serve improvements."

Fred Wilkinson, director of Corrections, recommended to start planning a similar center in North Kansas City.

Another $770,000 was asked to continue renovation of the State Capitol and other buildings in the Capitol complex. And $750,000 was recommended to build an additional floor on the Waggoner building—Highway Patrol headquarters.

Here are the totals for the state hospitals with almost all the money going for repairs and improvements regarded as essential:

Fulton $499,020, St. Joseph $420,015, Nevada $422,950, Farmington $876,935, St. Louis $5,042,000 including $4,750,000 for the new juvenile center, Marshall State School $652,584, St. Louis State School $1,169,803 including $729,212 for a diagnostic and day care clinic, Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center in St. Louis $69,513, Western Missouri Mental Health Center at Kansas City $53,000.

Totals for the universities and colleges:

University of Missouri $11,396,000 including $5.5 million for the new boiler and generator at Columbia and $2,720,000 for remodeling and renovation at Columbia, Rolla and Kansas City.

Lincoln University $700,000 including $500,000 for additions and rehabilitation of the central power plant and heating system and the rest for major repairs and renovation.

Central State College at Warrensburg $1 million, half for a new warehouse and shop building and the rest for major repairs.

Northeast State at Kirksville $963,052 for repairs and renovation.

Northwest State at Maryville $488,000 including $150,000 to renovate the old Industrial Arts Building, $115,000 for an agriculture equipment shop, $113,000 to air condition Colden Hall and $110,000 for repairs.

Southeast State at Cape Girardeau $654,080, including $256,520 for addition of Music Building classrooms, $164,020 to rehabilitate buildings and grounds, $149,040 for utility extensions and $84,500 to add a third floor to the Industrial Arts Building.

Southwest State at Springfield $1,035,000 including $815,000 to renovate the 1927 Science Building and $220,000 for additions and repair of existing facilities.

FHA Funds to Be Released

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said Monday the federal budget bureau has agreed to unfreeze $25 million in Farmers Home Administration funds, as he requested April 2.

Hearnes' Vice President Nixon at tying up the money prevented funding of loans already approved officially. It was working a hardship on farmers who were ready to plant but stood in danger of having their equipment repossessed instead, Hearnes said.

The Budget Bureau had frozen the funds in an anti-inflation move.

Hearnes said the FHA also has released $16 million in reserve funds for emergency loans to farmers.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

THE VIOLENT SPECIES

Assassinations, crime, war, racial tension and student unrest have led to searching inquiries into the nature and causes of violence in American society. Dr. Margaret Mead, the noted anthropologist, will address herself to the subject in a lecture to be delivered at Lafayette College's second All-College Symposium on Wednesday, April 16.

"Of all animals only man, it seems, lacks some part of (the) instinct that protects the species from mutual slaughter," poet John Thompson has written (Commentary, April 1969). "We cannot any longer call violent men 'bestial' or say that an area of 'unbridled' aggression is a 'jungle.' A jungle is a rather peaceful place, no more red in tooth and claw than is necessary for the survival of the various species that eat members of other species and never their own. We ought to say to those who act violently, 'Don't be human.'"

Violence in the United States has deep roots. Rowdy mobs were active in colonial times, and they occasionally frightened the revolutionary leaders who tried to lead them. The British were likewise appalled. "Sir," said Samuel Johnson to a friend in 1769, "they (the Americans) are a race of convicts, and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging." In a letter written one year after Cornwallis's surrender at Yorktown, George III said that he "should be miserable indeed" about the loss of America if he did "not also know that knavery seems to be so much the striking feature of its inhabitants that it may not in the end be an evil that they will be aliens to this kingdom."

Five days after the assassination last June 5 of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, President Johnson established a National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence to "look into the causes, the occurrence and the control of physical violence across this nation." So far the commission has examined isolated instances of violence, such as that which occurred in Chicago during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. If the commission should come up with a workable prescription for preventing or even alleviating violence, it would be welcomed not only by Americans but by all mankind.

At one time a poor man was a fellow with no money; now, he's a fellow with a pocket full of credit cards.

Kids who do things for kicks should get 'em.

"THEY HAD NO WORD FOR CRISIS - ONLY DANGER AND OPPORTUNITY"

When China was a great, creative nation, its colorful language had no word for crisis. Instead they used two words - danger and opportunity.

Might be a good rule for this country today.

There is grave danger of ruinous inflation, yet opportunity to stop it by producing more value for everything we receive.

There is danger of overwhelming Federal debt, yet opportunity to control and reduced it by asking less of Government and doing more things for ourselves.

There is danger abroad, yet opportunity to strengthen our defenses by listening to our experts and respecting them for the patriots they are.

All the traits and human resources which made this nation great are still here, but obscured by a selfishness which has made too many cry for something for nothing. And that has brought a crisis but one which can still be met by recognizing those dangers and grasping the opportunity to return to work, in true American character.

Warner & Swasey

On the night of March 29, a 22-year-old Detroit policeman left his prowl car to question, a band of men carrying rifles. He was shot dead. There was a "shoot-out" when his comrades, summoned by his wounded partner, rushed a gathering of "citizens" of something called the Republic of New Africa.

Then, for the first time, the "Republic" and its leaders flashed into the national headlines.

Many were puzzled by the new "Republic." But those who follow your columnist Victor Reisel were not unaware of its existence, its purpose, or its revolutionary operations.

Six months before the shooting, Victor Reisel discussed the Republic of New Africa, its "cabinet minister," its links to a veteran Communist activist and to the efforts to disrupt the nation's school system. Reisel also revealed that the "Republic" had a training camp in New York State.

Reisel's column was dispatched on Oct. 10, 1968. Several months later, it was featured in magazines. Six months later, it shot itself into the front page heads.

An Iowa Public Service Company release noted that 87 per cent of Americans die without having made wills. Nearly $100,000,000 accumulates in probate courts each week, because people "forgot" to make wills. See your lawyer today! Remember to make that will today; tomorrow may be too late.

Lee Austin Bowman said it:

"Progress consists largely of learning to apply laws and truths that have always existed."

Thus, the ancients knew about the kite, the expansion of gases in combustion, and the screw. Millennia later, man discovered how to utilize burning gases in the internal combustion engine; he modified the kite's plane surface into an airfoil and he adapted the screw into a propeller, so the Wrights, Langley, Bleriot and other pioneers could develop a machine that flies.

Likewise, the ancients knew about jet power; they mounted a hollow ball on an axle and set it on supports; they put water in the ball, attached spouts pointing in opposite directions, and built a fire under the ball. Thus was born jet power, now heaving us moonward.

GETTING THROUGH TO SHAREHOLDERS

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which used to feed up to 15,000 shareholders at its annual meetings, has scheduled this year's annual review of business for Wednesday, April 16, in Atlanta, Ga. - without lunch. Most corporations have stopped feeding their shareholders at these events, after discovering that some were not only freeloading but taking two or three lunches.

Most corporations operating a calendar year basis are required by the New York Stock Exchange to send annual reports to shareholders by March 31. An April date for the annual meeting gives shareholders time to digest the printed reports. Companies at the same time are enabled to come up with an idea of first - quarter sales and earnings. This year the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge is having a depressing effect on first-quarter earnings reports.

More than 80 corporations scheduled their annual meetings for either the fourth Tuesday or the last Tuesday in April. This year these dates would be April 22 and 29, respectively. Some companies make a road show of their annual meetings, trying from year to year to hit centers of areas where their stock is widely held. Others make it no easier than the law requires for stockholders to attend.

Annual reports to stockholders continue the trend toward elaborate printing and illustration, with four-color covers comparable to those of the poshest magazines. The Bell System's report, only about average fancy, is figured to have cost 17 cents per stockholder. Doesn't sound like much, but when you figure that A.T. & T. has about 3.1 million stockholders, it comes to $527,000, not counting freebies for the press and business friends. (R.S.)

CHALLENGE TO CONGLOMERATES

Sen. Philip A. Hart, chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, predicted more than three years ago that 200 corporations would own 75 per cent of the country's manufacturing assets within a decade unless the government took preventive action. Hart's warning clearly was aimed at the increase of conglomerate mergers - those which unite companies engaged in unrelated activities or companies making similar products which do not compete in the same part of the country.

Now, after a long period of apparent indecision, the Justice Department has taken action. In what may prove a legal landmark in the antitrust field, the department will file suit against Ling-Temco-Vought by Tuesday, April 15, with the aim of forcing LTV to divest itself of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. The government has permitted LTV to continue to buy additional J & L stock up to a maximum of 81 per cent of shares outstanding. In turn, LTV agreed to relinquish all interest in the steel concern if the Justice Department wins its suit.

Conglomerates have undergone fantastic growth in recent years. Between 1965 and 1967, Litton Industries advanced from 102nd to 44th place in the Fortune directory of the 500 largest industrial corporations (rankings based on net sales). Textron went from 80th to 49th in the same period. But Ling - Temco - Vought has risen faster and farther: from 168th in 1966 to 38th in 1967. The acquisition of Jones & Laughlin, with 1967 sales of $906.3 million (half those of LTV) and assets of $1.09 billion (as compared with LTV's $845.1 million), would lift the Ling empire into or close to the top 20 on Fortune's list. That prospect probably will make for a hard-fought case on both sides.

But how can one stay out of trouble? One of the best ways is knowing when to say no.

Here, for example, are a few invitations which, if accepted, are likely to lead only to disaster:

"If I tell you what really happened to me, will you lend me the money to bail myself out?"

"You fellows look like you're really getting kick out of that poker game. Would you mind if a stranger sat in for a few hands? Here's my business card."

Wouldn't you rather buy the gin for your Martinis by the case instead of the bottle, sir? Over the years you'd save quite a sum."

"I don't know why you think wives can't judge racehorses, George. If I win more than you do at the track today, will you double the amount?"

"Perhaps the baby has an upset stomach. Why don't you let me hold him in my lap while you go to the medicine cabinet and get something to soothe him?"

"So what if he is growling? That doesn't bother me. I've always had a way with dogs. Let me show you. Here, Tighe! Here, Boy!"

"Sure I've got a chip on my shoulder. And if you think you're man enough to knock it off, why don't you try - starting right now!"

"The only way I can figure for you to get back a tax refund is to put down $50 for charitable contributions. Don't worry - you've got such a kind-looking face they'd never think of questioning the amount."

"Gee, Jane, see the cute little black-and-white striped pussy cat over there by the edge of the woods? It looks hungry. Why don't we go over and feed it some of our leftover picnic scraps?"

"If I let you make all the long-distance phone calls you want, Gladys, will you give me your word of honor that you'll get a passing grade in your math course this semester?"

"Why don't we try to make it all the way without wasting time stopping at a filling station, Dad? Jimmy told me when he finally got home with the car last night that he left the tank almost full of gas."

"Why don't we brace the boss together. If we tell him we'll both resign unless he follows our suggestion, he's bound to back down."

"If you think that guy next door is so much nicer a husband than I am, Edna, why don't you just draw all the money out of our joint account and run away from home with him?"

"Pass the Salt, Please!"

The Missouri Highway Patrol reports that over half of the 40 pedestrian traffic deaths recorded in the State during the first three months of the year involved pedestrians over 60 or under 14 years of age.

A total of 29 pedestrians in these age groups lost their lives during January, February and March of this year. Fifteen of these pedestrians were in the young age group and the remaining 14 were over 60 years old.

The youngest pedestrian killed during the three-month period was a 22 month old boy. The oldest person killed while walking was a 93 year old woman.

"The responsibility for the safety of junior and senior pedestrians is largely in the hands of drivers," said Colonel E.L. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol. "Members of these two groups are non-drivers and often are not aware of the responsibilities of pedestrians or the difficulties of driving. Children outdoors are absorbed in play. They have their minds on retrieving a ball or catching a playmate across the street. Youngsters do not think of traffic dangers. Senior citizens, at the same time, often have defective eyesight or hearing and cannot recognize a dangerous situation. Many are not aware of the hazards and pedestrians safeguards of today's traffic."

Colonel Hockaday urged drivers to use extra caution and alertness when pedestrians of these two age groups are near traffic.

GOVERNMENT POLICIES CAUSE INFLATION

Who is to blame for inflation? The implication in many of the legislative proposals now before Congress is that most of the blame lies with private citizens. Government spokesmen warn business and labor to behave prudently in setting wages and prices. If they don't, they are threatened with wage and price controls. Travel spending by U.S. citizens is blamed for aggravating the gold crises. Heavy tax increases are recommended because private citizens are guilty of spending too much money.

A distinguished economist, Mr. W. Allen Wallis, who is now president of the University of Rochester, places the blame for inflation where belongs: "Inflation can be generated only by the government. Business firms, labor unions, or consumers with excessive market power can do many objectionable things that are contrary to the public interest; but ... they cannot... cause inflation - or, for that matter, prevent it." Inflation is the direct result of government spending beyond the producing and taxpaying ability of the citizens.

They're looking at the old bandwagon. It won't be easy to grease its wheels or hot up its callopie. Today, labor is split wide open - and the powerful political machinery is in the hands of those with whom Bob Kennedy was persona non grata.

The Massachusetts senator, now unwinding for the first time in almost a year, relaxing, endlessly conferencing, still resents the "shafting" of his brother. But he's careful not to make his brother's tactical and diplomatic political mistakes inside labor.

His labor allies and activists are out of the old CIO. There's "young" Paul Jennings, leader of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE). There are some of Walter Reuther's younger lieutenants and ex-aides.

But it's in George Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters, Ted Kennedy knows, that his toughest political problem is deeply embedded. He's persona grata there. But they don't throw parties or roses in his path when he comes.

Nor do they buy tickets to the banquet thrown to liquidate the $3 million debt rolled up during Bob Kennedy's campaign for the presidential nomination. Back in January, there were virtually no national AFL-CIO people paying tribute to the Kennedys at the mammoth Hill fund-raising dinner.

He does his best to avoid hurting anyone's feelings there. Not only because its national Committee on Political Education (COPE) almost elected Hubert Humphrey and may try again in '72, but because Ted Kennedy believes it would be extremely difficult to go anywhere without the 14 million - member labor movement - up or down the Hill.

And so he makes all the right moves. When, for example, he was about to take his public posture in opposition to the Safeguard antiballistic missile system he telephoned George Meany's intellectual - in residence, the self-effacing Lane Kirkland. They did not agree. But they did talk amiably.

Sen. Kennedy doesn't enthuse the chiefs of labor's rarely visible infrastructure. They're not his ally. So Ted Kennedy builds his own trade

THE COMPUTERIZED FIELDER

So someone asks you out to the ball game next summer and you witness a fine display of fly ball snagging by ace outfielder Joe Funga. You may not know it, nor may Joe himself, but what you have also witnessed is a practical demonstration of the solution of somewhat involved problems in trigonometry.

Seville Chapman, director of the physics division at Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, tells how Joe does it, as reported in Scientific American.

Consider first balls hit in a direct line with the outfielder. The only changes he can see in the position of the ball are in the vertical. If what he sees is that the tangent of the angle of elevation of the ball (the angle between the ball and horizontal as measured from the fielder's eyes) increases uniformly with time, he just stands still and waits for it to come to him.

If the tangent of elevation increases at a decreasing rate, he knows it's a pop fly to the infield. If, however, the tangent as he sees it increases at an increasing rate, the ball could be on its way out of the park.

Now suppose Joe has to run 50 feet forward or backward to catch the ball. Ordinarily, he doesn't run the 50 feet at top speed then stop and wait for the ball. Instead, he runs at a constant speed that will maintain a constant rate of increase in the tangent of angle of elevation of the ball.

Balls hit to the side are easier, says Chapman. In addition to the information about elevation angle and its rate of change, there is now information about azimuth angle and its rate of change.

Enough. Neither Joe nor the fans care about this. As a good ball player, Joe acts as if he were automatically programmed by a computer.

And he is, by the original computer of them all - the human brain.

THE INAUGURAL BALL

During the recent inauguration several members of my family were in Washington for the occasion. We had invitations to the inaugural balls and I decided quite late to attend the one at the Mayflower Hotel, to which I already had a ticket.

Upon entering the ballroom I was pleased to see the very large crowd of fine people assembled. While observing the events and contemplating where I might be seated, a Congressman from Arkansas asked me to take his seat and hold it until he returned, as he was leaving for a while. It was well located, near the edge of the dance floor and several of the dancers came over to visit with me.

After about 10 minutes, Governor Winthrop Rockefeller came in and took a seat near me, saying "This is my box." I did not anticipate the extent of one person's reservation. At that time, I left the box to follow a gentleman who insisted he could find me a box seat nearer the orchestra.

Ascertaining that none was available, I went across the ballroom to a box where the occupants had previously invited me to join them.

In times as critical as these I prefer to devote most of my time and much of my resources to projects that I believe are beneficial toward preserving this Republic. These include YOUTH FREEDOM SPEAKERS, LIFE LINE, REFORM OF THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE, writing letters to the editor which extol freedom and publishing books presenting the personal enterprise system favorably. Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Sen. Kennedy Told Them He's Definitely Running in '72, Labor Leaders Report.

Washington, D.C.: - From one tight-knit, close-mouthed labor circle, the message is that Ted Kennedy has told its people that he's "ready for '72." He'll run for president. And it's not too early to move Bob Kennedy's labor machine into action - not noisily but slowly and very definitely.

They're moving. They're looking at the old bandwagon. It won't be easy to grease its wheels or hot up its callopie. Today, labor is split wide open - and the powerful political machinery is in the hands of those with whom Bob Kennedy was persona non grata.

The Massachusetts senator, now unwinding for the first time in almost a year, relaxing, endlessly conferencing, still resents the "shafting" of his brother. But he's careful not to make his brother's tactical and diplomatic political mistakes inside labor.

His labor allies and activists are out of the old CIO. There's "young" Paul Jennings, leader of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE). There are some of Walter Reuther's younger lieutenants and ex-aides.

But it's in George Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters, Ted Kennedy knows, that his toughest political problem is deeply embedded. He's persona grata there. But they don't throw parties or roses in his path when he comes.

Nor do they buy tickets to the banquet thrown to liquidate the $3 million debt rolled up during Bob Kennedy's campaign for the presidential nomination. Back in January, there were virtually no national AFL-CIO people paying tribute to the Kennedys at the mammoth Hill fund-raising dinner.

He does his best to avoid hurting anyone's feelings there. Not only because its national Committee on Political Education (COPE) almost elected Hubert Humphrey and may try again in '72, but because Ted Kennedy believes it would be extremely difficult to go anywhere without the 14 million - member labor movement - up or down the Hill.

And so he makes all the right moves. When, for example, he was about to take his public posture in opposition to the Safeguard antiballistic missile system he telephoned George Meany's intellectual - in residence, the self-effacing Lane Kirkland. They did not agree. But they did talk amiably.

Sen. Kennedy doesn't enthuse the chiefs of labor's rarely visible infrastructure. They're not his ally. So Ted Kennedy builds his own trade union infrastructure. He's talked with Teamsters leaders and found them less brutal, less speak at central labor councils which would not open their doors to brother Bob.

And whenever he wants it, he has a power base in something called the Center for Community Change - funded by the Ford Foundation's $3.5 million. This is an umbrella organization coordinating several older units for work among the poor. It is officially interlocked with the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation.

If Ted Kennedy doesn't see the CCC as a powerful Reutherite labor base - the national AFL-CIO leaders do. Some of them fault the Ford Foundation for setting it up under the direction of Jack Conway, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Mr. Conway, an imaginative launcher of committees, is an intimate of United Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther.

For a long time, Mr. Conway was the "redhead's" executive assistant. Then he virtually ran the OEO. Finally he headed the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept. of which Mr. Reuther was nominal president. When the auto union leader launched oratorical fusillades at Mr. Meany, Jack Conway was at "Walter's" side. When Mr. Reuther sought to peel some union chiefs from the AFL-CIO, Jack Conway was alongside the Detroitier.

Today Mr. Reuther is on the CCC's board of directors, along with several strategists of the old Bob Kennedy headquarters. There are no AFL-CIO men on the CCC list. They see the center as a "platform for Walter Reuther." That's positive.

And it should be remembered that the recent 40,000-word blast at Mr. Reuther was unanimously approved by the federation's high council.

There's open war here. Ted Kennedy is caught in the middle.

These wars get to be verbally bloody. Mr. Reuther has been needing the powerful AFL-CIO chiefs for several years now. They took their time. They took careful aim. They hit him and will continue to fight him wherever he shows up. He's emerged in several spots alongside Ted Kennedy and the old Kennedy machine now pulsating cross-country.

So, quite gingerly, Ted Kennedy tries to make his peace with the labor chiefs, whose backing he must have to win the Democratic nomination in '72, without the kind of fight which brutalized Hubert Humphrey.

At the same time, he's taking no chances. He's told his own labor allies to get swinging. They are. They believe '72 is closer than you think.

Ann Landers

Man Who Locks Up Wallet May Be Sick

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 25 years. We have four fine children and a comfortable home. Our marriage is far from perfect but I consider it as good as most. Last night Vernon insulted me in a way I shall never forget. He brought home a safe with a lock on it bigger than my head.

When we got ready for bed, Vernon took his billfold out of his pocket, scooped up his small change, removed his cuff links and watch and put everything in the safe. He didn't say one word the whole time, just gave me sort of a triumphant look and turned off the light.

Ann, I have never taken a thing in my life that didn't belong to me. I wouldn't dream of snooping through Vernon's pockets. Why he chose to insult me this way is a total mystery. Our house has never been robbed so he can't be worried about burglars.

Vernon has always been on the quiet side and kept to himself. He is 52 years old and seems to be in good health. What do you make of this? -- Mystified persists, urge him to see a doctor for a checkup. And be sure to inform the doctor about your husband's strange behavior. Vernon might be going through the male menopause.

Dear Mys: The man sounds unwell. If this strange behavior

Dear Ann Landers: I read an article in the paper that burned me up. It went something like this: "Are you responsible for making a thief out of a perfectly nice kid?" The article said that whenever a person leaves his keys in the ignition of his car he is encouraging some "perfectly nice kid" to be a thief.

Of all the crackpot ideas, this one takes the cake. What in the world has happened to good old-fashioned honesty? Teen-agers behave according to the standards they are raised by. The values learned as young children are deeply ingrained by the time they are 12 years of age. When I was 16 I wouldn't have touched a dollar if a million of 'em were stacked up in front of me simply because I was taught early not to take things that didn't belong to me.

Now they've twisted things up so the person who leaves the keys in the car is just as guilty as the kid who steals it. How crazy can the sociologists get? -- Born Too Late

Dear Born: I agree, some kids wouldn't dream of stealing a car, key or not, but the point of the article was that we shouldn't make car setting easy because some kids are borderliners and behave impulsively.

No matter how you look at it, there has been an appalling increase in car stealing -- nearly 65% of all car thefts in 1967 were pulled off by teen-agers.

Confidential to Opinion Needed: Paradise Now meant Jail Later for some of those actors who got carried away. Nudity is getting to be a big fat bore and I firmly believe that people will get sick of theater garbage, movie trash, pornography -- the whole rotten scene -- and they will fade into oblivion.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex -- Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe Observe 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe were surprised Easter Sunday with a surprise open house to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. It was given by their sons, John and Mike. About 100 attended the reception between 2 and 5 p.m.

The table was covered with white cloth and silver net. It was centered with a three tiered cake decorated in silver and white.

Assisting their sons in serving and planning were Mrs. DeWint Zarior, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Scherer, Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Struwe of Charleston, Miss Sue Struwe of Memphis, and Mrs. Sandi Struwe Gillum of Lexington, Ky. Miss Sharon Scherer was at the serving table, Miss Sidney Scherer presided at the guest book, and Miss Sara Struwe of Charleston was at the gift table. Mr. and Mrs. Struwe were married April 9, 1944 at the First Methodist church by the Rev. E. W. Bartley.

A native of Sikeston, Struwe is office manager of Ray Clinton Construction Co. Mrs. Struwe, a homemaker, is a native of Morley. The couple's oldest son,

John, has been accepted into medical school at the University of Missouri and Mike, who is a senior at Sikeston high school, has been accepted into the University of Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Struwe were honored Sunday with a family dinner at the home of Mrs. Struwe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dye of Morley.

Women's Club Activities

The monthly meeting of the Jaycee-Ettes was held Thursday at the Sikeston Country club. Mrs. Joene Walker, director of the KMPL Community Club Awards. Campaign, was the guest speaker. She explained all of the details of the program, and how the Jaycee-Ettes could participate.

Linda Jones, president, presided over the business meeting. Judy Siskal read the minutes of the last meeting, and Phyllis Harp gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Jones went through the duty of each club officer, and an election was held. Judy Siskal will serve as the new president. Other officers are Sondra Templeton, vice-president; Debbie Carpenter, secretary; Margie Anderton, treasurer; Margaret Lambert, corresponding secretary. These officers were installed Saturday with the new Jaycee officers, and will take office at the May meeting.

Sondra Templeton was appointed chairman of the Community Club Awards Campaign and Betty McGinn will serve as co-chairman. Any Jaycee-Ette wishing more information on this project could contact either of the chairmen.

Mrs. Siskal reminded the members of the trip to the Cape Jaycee Wives meeting May 21.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Linda Jones and Phyllis Harp. Margie Anderton and Carolyn Miller were hostesses for this meeting.

The Sikeston Newcomer's Club met April 3 in the community room of the First National Bank with five members present and five guests.

Miss Spicer from the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic, explained exactly what the purpose of the clinic is. This is the only clinic of its type in the United States. More are planned so that the mentally retarded can be cared for in their own communities.

A business meeting followed the talk. Three new officers were elected to replace those who have moved. Elected were: Roberta Whitten, treasurer; Ellen Pilleros, sunshine chairman; and Eileen Scheu, secretary.

After the business meeting refreshments were served by Irene Bruner and Betty Hampton.

Fellowship Day

The plans for May Fellowship Day, which is observed annually in Sikeston by Church Women United, were finalized when the committee members, Mrs. George T. Johnson, Mrs. Mac McCahey and Mrs. James Edgar Byrd met during the past week at the home of Mrs. Carl Schorle, chairman of the event. Mrs. Burt Rowe Sr., CWU president, also was present to assist in compiling a complete list of the thirty-two churches in Sikeston which will be contacted in an effort to draw non-participating churches into the CWU activity here in Sikeston.

The national theme for May Fellowship Day Service will place emphasis on the exceptional people in our community, with an appeal to consider their special needs in the way of understanding, care and companionship.

The host church for this occasion, to be held on May 2 at 7:30, will be the First Church of the Nazarene, Scott and Trotter Streets. Women of all faiths are encouraged to attend this service, which is brief, followed by a fellowship hour.

PTA News

The executive committee of the southwest school Parent Teacher Association held its last meeting of this school year at the home of Mrs. Barbara Hitchcock.

The President, Gerald Howard, presided and heard the reports from the various chairmen. Reports were made on all the activities of the year and plans were made to install the newly elected officers.

The annual cake walk will be held at the meeting tonight. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Parents and Teens Can Communicate

"They just don't understand same time the youth is saying, us." "What will they do next?" "They never listen." These are familiar terms we read and hear today. The parents of teenagers are often asking themselves, "Where have I failed? What went wrong?" Teens of today's world are more aware, more conscious, and better informed than almost anytime in our past history. The teenage boy and girl is struggling to seek out themselves, to find an identity and to reach for maturity.

It is not an easy time for parents, for they oftentimes see their teenagers as the children they once had to care for and make decisions for rather than as young adults reaching for maturity.

One of the most common complaints voiced by parents is the lack of communication between themselves and their children. The parent says, "He just won't talk to me." At the same time the youth is saying, "They never listen."

Communication is a two-way street. It takes two to communicate. That is two people who respect each other enough to listen and to talk and exchange ideas. One person has to be listening while the other is talking or there can be no exchange of ideas. If the parent is so busy trying to think up reasons why not, while the youth is explaining, that he doesn't hear, is this a conversation? And the reverse is also true. Each must listen and "try" to understand what the other is trying to express.

The ease of communication is a skill that takes a great deal of use to perfect. It just doesn't begin when the youth reaches his teens. It has to be practiced from the timethe child first begins to talk. It does go through a very hard test during the teen years for many reasons. The teens will sometimes feel parents are old fashioned or behind times. (Test yourself parents -- how many times do you say to your modern youth, "When I was a boy.") Or youth may turn to others their own age because they share common problems, or communications may be harder because the teen is not always sure "what he feels" or "why" and we as parents unwillingly cause further doubts with our questions or criticisms.

So what's the answer? There are no concrete answers but some suggestions we as parents may try are: Try to learn about the teen world. (Not become an "overgrown" teen but rather try to see what it's like for a teen.) We need to try to accept our teens' need for growth and independence. (Have confidence in all those years of guiding you have put in before he reaches his teens.) don't be afraid to set goals and limits and stick to them, but have good, sound, fair reasons for the rules and allow the youth a say in developing the rules; and try to relate to our teens that our love will always be there. We may always stand beside them. We may not always like or approve of what they do, but disapproval is for their action -- our love remains for them.

Dr. Otto Schaefer of the Northern Medical Research Unit of Edmonton's Charles Camell Hospital said Canadian Eskimos are usually in continuous lactation from age 17 to 50. A 15-year medical study of the Canadian Eskimo population, which increased from less than 9,000 to more than 13,000 in that time, turned up only one case of breast cancer -- a 40-year-old woman who nursed seven of her 10 children for less than the normal period.

In Japan and among Greenland Eskimos, said Schaefer, breast feeding had declined in popularity and as a result he said, the incidence of breast cancer is increasing. Japan's mortality from breast cancer almost doubled between 1910 and 1950, he said. Schaefer didn't rule out heredity as a cause of breast cancer, but added: "The common contributing factor appears to be either the decrease in the duration of breast feeding or its complete elimination -- a result of assimilation by Western culture."

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR PRESCRIPTION:

Why it isn't always good to the very last drop

Unlike an old friend, you cannot rely upon an old prescription to do a thorough job... especially the same one for which it was originally intended. Drugs lose their potency over a number of years and some increase in strength through evaporation. Not only might a drug prove ineffective but it may be dangerous as well. Adverse storage conditions could also affect the prescription. Chemical changes can occur within the liquid, capsule or tablet. Then, too, there is the constant danger of a child reaching for an old prescription. Thinking it's candy... or simply imitating you... he might swallow the contents. The results may be tragic. Never depend upon a prescription lasting forever. Let your doctor re-prescribe for your present condition... after all he is the expert! And once you have regained your health, always destroy the remainder of your prescription.

SHS Athletes Face Busy Week

By TERRY NOWELL

Golf, tennis, and track teams will see action this week as Sikeston High School participants are scheduled to take part in the three sports. Golf and tennis competition is set for today and Thursday with the tracksters going to the field today, Wednesday, and Friday.

Bulldog golfers seem to be on their way to another fine season as they now stand at 2-0 for the young season.

Golfers will face one of their defeated victims today as they compete against Kennett in their first home match of the season. Bulldog should be able to bring the match out today as they defeated the Indians by a considerable margin in the previous competition and will have the added advantage of playing on their home course.

Sikeston golfers then travel to Caruthersville on Thursday. This is the first time for them to play the Tiger squad this year, but they are expected to come out ahead as Sikeston will have the advantages of experience and momentum behind them.

Coach John Brooke's tennis squad is also slated to try and better its record this week, also meeting Kennett and Caruthersville on the same days as the golf team.

Today's match with Kennett should be a real battle for the Bulldogs as the Indians have their first four men back from last year's squad, compared to Sikeston's two veterans.

Thursday's tennis competition should be more evenly matched, however, as both teams should be about equal in experience and depth.

In rank order, boys expected to see competition in the singles division are David Patton, David Owens, Hunter Moore, Jeff Comer, Chuck Leible, and Keith Colley.

Doubles contests are expected to be headed by the team of Patton - Leible, Owens - Colley, and Comer - Moore.

Rounding out Tuesday's competition, the freshman track squad will take part in the Kennett invitation junior high track meet.

Two divisions will be featured in the meet as the freshmen make up one and seventh and eighth grades will take part in the other.

Schools expected to take part in this competition are Sikeston, Kennett, Charleston, Poplar Bluff, Caruthersville, Hayti, Deering and Senath-Hornersville.

Varsity and freshmen are both scheduled to compete in the annual Scott - Mississippi meet at Charleston tomorrow. Sikeston and Charleston are expected to be the leaders in this tourney of six teams from both Scott and Mississippi counties.

Week's SHS sporting battles will end on Friday as the varsity tracksters will take part in the Northern Division conference contest at Charleston.

Top area squads are set to attend the contest with Poplar Bluff, Charleston and Kennett expected to pave the way. Poplar Bluff and Kennett finished very close in an earlier meet, but the Mules will probably have the edge Friday.

Coach Jim Graham related that the Bulldogs may be slightly under full strength in this week's competition as runners Arthur Jackson, Tom Dunn, and Henry Gross are bothered with injuries.

Bulldog Golfers Lace Kennett

Sikeston Bulldog golfers bettered their season's slate to 2-0 last Friday as they defeated the Kennett Indians by a considerable margin of 166-188 at Kennett.

Bulldog scores were all above par, but were also all under the tallies turned in by the host team.

Junior Him Warf again led the visiting Bulldogs with a three over par total of 38. This gives Jim a two meet average of 37.

Following scores for the Bulldogs saw Mike Shaffer next in line at 41, Tom Dawson at 42, Jim Godsey at 45, Paul Johnson at 49, and Ken Beal finished with a 51-swing total.

Bulldogs' next match will be held today as they again go against Kennett. Today's match will take place on the Sikeston course.

Cards Bow to Expos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Royals, with seven games under their belts, five of them victories, have moved into a 1½ game lead in the American League's West Division.

The Royals won their fifth Monday night against Seattle, the league's other expansion team of 1969, defeating the Pilots 21 as reliever Dave Wickersham came on with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to record the final out.

Earlier, the defending National League champion St. Louis Cardinals helped Montreal launch its first home major league season by bowing to the Expos 87 before a standing room only crowd of nearly 30,000.

It was a wild, error-filled game, that was highlighted by a grand slam homer by the Cards' Del Maxvill, a solo shot by Joe Torre, and a three-run homer and a two-run triple by Montreal's Mack Jones.

The winning run scored in the seventh on Coco Laboy's double and Dan McGinn's single. McGinn was the winning pitcher in relief allowing only three hits over five and one-third innings. The loss went to Gary Waslewski.

The one-game stand between Seattle and Kansas City was essentially a pitchers' battle for the Royals Roger Nelson and Mike Marshall of the Pilots. Each allowed six hits and struck out six. Nelson walked five and Marshall four.

Seattle scored in the first inning on a double by Tommy Harper and two infield outs.

The Royals tied it in the sixth when Jack Hernandez beat out a bunt, Joe Keough was safe on an errant grounder, and a checked-swing hit by Joyce Foy scored Hernandez.

Foy got his fourth straight single in the eighth and later scored on a fielding error by the Pilots shortstop John Kennedy who booted a Jerry Adair grounder and the ball rolled into shallow left field.

The Royals are idle today, moving into Chicago for a game with the White Sox Wednesday afternoon.

Coins to Commemorate Ft. Sill Centennial Year

FORT SILL, Okla. (ANF) — Silver and bronze coin medals, specially struck at a Pennsylvania mint, will commemorate Fort Sill's centennial year in 1969, marking 100 years of progress from a tiny cavalry camp to a sophisticated center of field artillery.

A limited number of silver coins priced at $1 each are available by mail order from the Fort Sill Centennial Project Office, Fort Sill, Okla., 73503.

Proceeds from the sale of the coins will go toward financing the post's centennial year projects.

Today, the Fort Sill U.S. Army Field Artillery Center annually trains thousands of soldiers in handling all phases of field artillery. Additionally, the center conducts an officer candidate school, an NCO academy, a drill sergeant school and an instructor training course.

Since 1965, the center has been engaged in activating, reorganizing, and deploying specially trained units to Vietnam to provide combined arms capability.

Footwear Joins Unisex Parade

MALE AND FEMALE MONK-STRAPS. Over high-rising tongue of his winey brown smooth leather slip-on (left) rides wide monk-strap (by American Gentleman); on HER foot (right), Golo's wine-colored alligator-grained patent leather pants shoe also has wide monk-strap with crescent buckle.

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Footwear manufacturers have finally gotten around to joining the unisex fashion parade with an array of matched, "he or she" shoes.

The shoes are not identical of course — not yet at least — but they are cut in similar styles with look-alike trims.

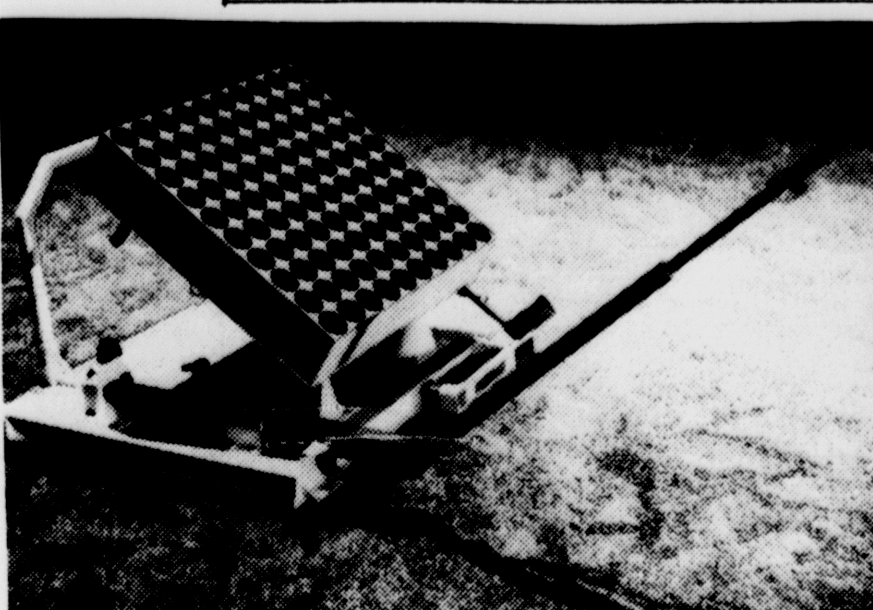

Leather Industries of America reports several clear trends, including the demand for metal buckles, chains, studs and bands on shoes of all kinds.

Heels are low for men, low to chunky mid-height for women.

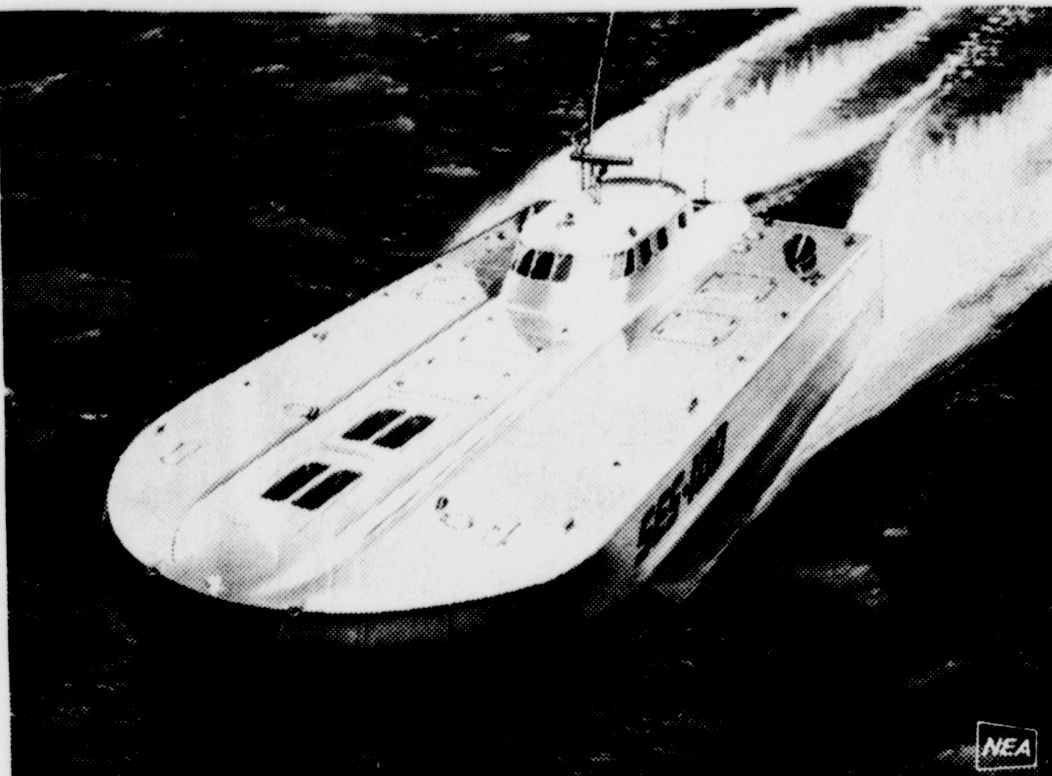

Materials include polished smooth and glazed leathers, suede, grained leathers and embossed or antiqued hides. They're available in a wide range of colors.

Sandals are popular with both sexes. Most of them feature small cut outs near the back of the foot, seldom in front or at the toe.

Another favorite is the high-tongued slip-on, often decorated with brass or silver hardware, monk straps, spectator-style trim or leather fringe.

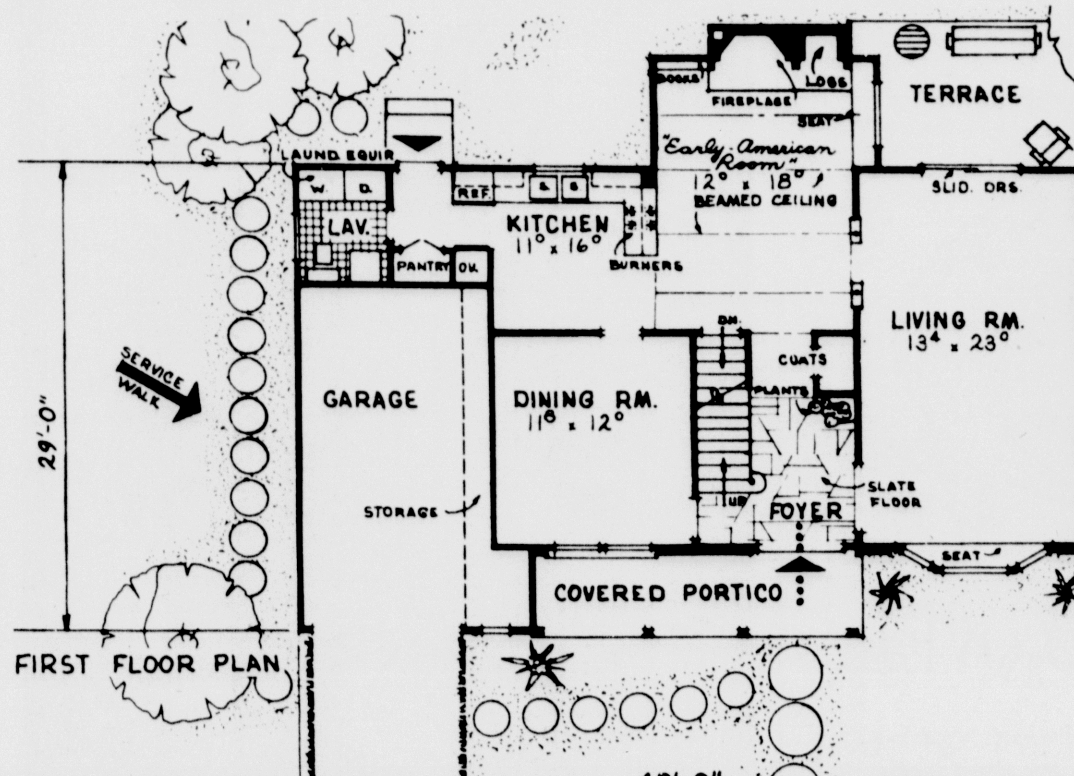

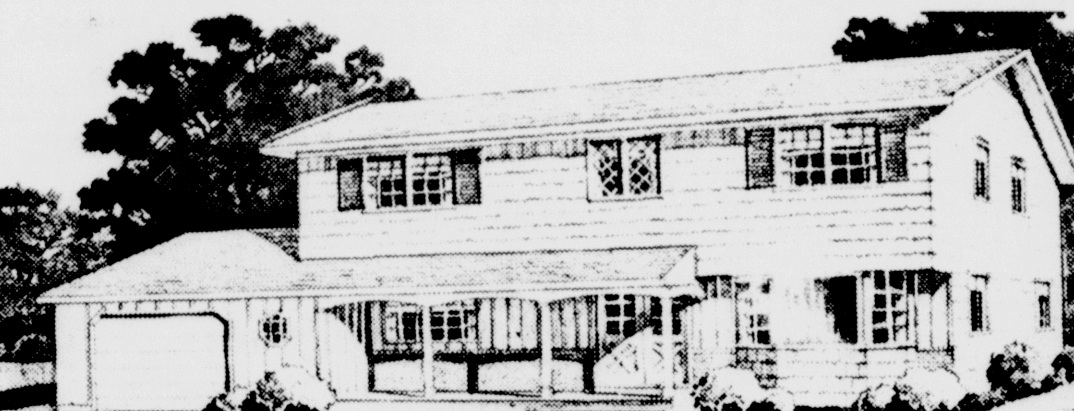

MADE FOR THE MOON, the device above, called a Laser Ranging Retro-Reflector, is designed to serve as a target on the lunar surface for communications from earth via laser, highly concentrated beams of light. The reflector is expected, among other things, to measure the earth's wobble on its axis and check the theory that the continents drift on the surface of the earth. Right, Ron Redick of Bendix Aerospace at Ann Arbor, Mich., NASA contractor for the experiment, demonstrates how an astronaut will operate the reflector.

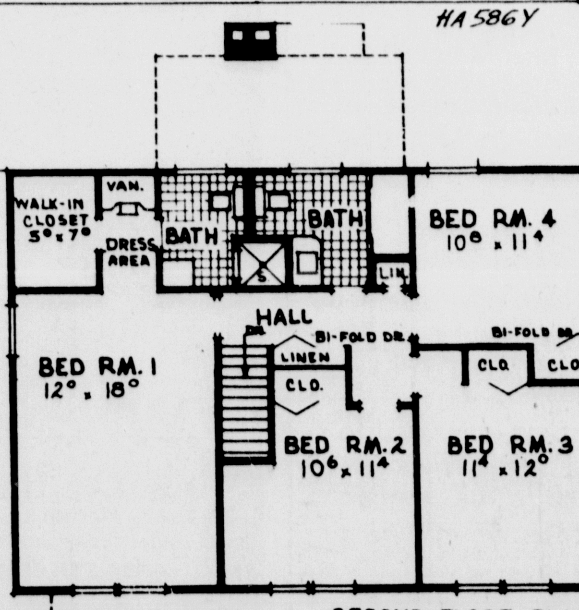

AIR BUBBLE is the secret of this speedster to be built as a test craft for eventual ocean transports. Called a Surface Effect Ship, it literally rides on a bubble created by lift fans forcing air beneath the hull, reducing drag. The theoretical result will be unheard of water speeds of up to 80 knots—92 m.p.h. Artist's sketch shows the 100-ton test craft Bell Aerosystems of Buffalo, N.Y. is building under Maritime Administration contract.

PORTAGEVILLE - One hundred persons attended a reception at the New Madrid County Library Easter Sunday afternoon honoring three southeast Missouri artists whose works are on exhibit at the library during April.

The artists, Mrs. Roberta Hunter, East Prairie, Robert McCollum and Bill Lybarger of Charleston greeted visitors and explained various paintings and pieces of ceramics being shown. The reception was sponsored by the library staff with the help of Michael Boon, Tommy Dial and Hank Workman, who are students at the Conran Elementary School.

The public is invited to visit the exhibit at the library during this month.

If You Were the Judge

Judge Rules Man Must

Pay for Destroying Tree

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

Byron was the proud owner of a stately old Oak tree that stood near the property line of his neighbor, Mr. Mod, and annually, the tree produced acorns that annually drove Mr. Mod mad. Each fall, the acorns would drop onto Mr. Mod's property from overhanging branches and clog his pipes and sewers.

As a result, a plumber would practically have to move in with Mr. Mod to keep the pipes and sewers in working condition.

After years of having the acorns drive him nutty, Mr. Mod finally decided to take matters into his own hands. Since Byron refused to cut off the overhanging branches, Mr. Mod waited for him to go away on vacation and hired several men to cut down the offending tree. When he returned and found his stately oak lying in state, Byron sued Mr. Mod for destroying his property.

"He had no right to come onto my land and to chop down my tree," Byron fumed in court. "It was like committing murder."

"It was more like self-defense," retorted Mr. Mod. "If I hadn't destroyed that tree, it would have destroyed me, mentally. Since Byron had refused to correct the situation, I had a right to do what I did."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the mad Mr. Mod pay for chopping down Byron's offending tree?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while it sympathized with Mr. Mod's problem, he was not justified in taking the law into his own hands even to accomplish what Byron should have done. It is well established, noted the judge, that a property owner may cut off overhanging branches of a neighbor's tree, or to sue the neighbor for damages and to make him cut down the branches, but he may not enter upon his neighbor's property and cut down the tree.

Structure of Antibody Clue Discovered

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

Scientists have found a clue to the mystery of how you stay alive and healthy despite attacks by billions of germs and viruses.

Their achievement, announced today, might help in building better defenses against diseases. And it might also assist in combating nature's law that your body should reject a borrowed heart, kidney or other organ.

Scientists of the Rockefeller University in New York City have spelled out, for the first time, the complete chemical structure of an antibody.

Antibodies are protein molecules that destroy or eliminate anything foreign to you as an individual—whether it be bacteria, a virus like the one which causes Hong Kong flu, or even a transplanted heart that you desperately need.

Any such foreign substance is known as an antigen. The antibody formed against it is thus a key chemical in immunity, nature's defensive mechanism.

Part of it recognizes the foreign "something" or antigen in the dark interior of the living body when they touch. Once it locks in on the antigen, the rest of the antibody acts as a policeman to neutralize the invader.

The feat of determining the exact chemical structure of an antibody was reported by Prof. Gerald M. Edelman at opening sessions of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

"We believe that we are now closer to a satisfactory explanation of the chemical and genetic bases for the immunity process," he said.

Dr. Edelman and associates have chemically analyzed a pure antibody or immunoglobulin, produced in a patient with a tumor known as myeloma.

Dr. Edelman's collaborators included Dr. Bruce A. Cunningham, Dr. Myron J. Waxdal, W. Einer Gall, Paul D. Gottlieb, Urs Rutishauser, and Dr. William H. Konigsberg, now at Yale University.

Academy Awards Feature Surprises

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The second tie in the 4-year history of the Academy Awards gives Oscars to both Barbra Streisand of "Funny Girl" and Katharine Hepburn of "The Lion in Winter" — and makes Miss Hepburn the first three-time winner.

Cliff Robertson in the role of the mentally retarded man whom doctors turn temporarily into a genius in "Charly" was named best actor of 1968 at Monday night's presentations.

"Oliver," a musical spectacle based on Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," was voted the year's best picture. It won in five categories, including best director laurels for Sir Carol Reed with this, his first musical.

For supporting performances, the honors went to Jack Albertson as the blustering father in "The Subject Was Roses" and Ruth Gordon as the meddling neighbor and part-time witch in "Rosemary's Baby."

Races in all the top categories were close, but the selection of "Oliver" as best picture over "The Lion in Winter" was a surprise to some observers. "The academy voters apparently wanted entertainment this year," one veteran Oscar watcher commented.

Ingrid Bergman, presenting the best-actress Oscar, looked stunned and unbelieving as she opened the envelope containing the winners' names and exclaimed: "It's a tie!"

A tie happened only once before, in 1932, when best-actor awards went to both Fredric March for "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and Wallace Beery for "The Champ."

Miss Hepburn, 59, this year became the record holder for Oscar nominations with 11. Her previous awards as best actress were for work in "Morning Glory," 1933, and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," last year. She is the first triple winner in the lead actor category, either male or female. Miss Hepburn also is the second star to win twice in succession. Louise Rainer accomplished this in the 1930s.

Walter Brennan, has won three Oscars but they were for supporting roles.

Miss Hepburn, who won as the queenly Eleanor of Aquitaine in "The Lion in Winter," didn't attend the ceremonies — just as she didn't the other two times she won. She was reported to be in New York.

Robertson, on location in the Philippines, was another absentee.

Miss Streisand, the Brooklyn girl who won with a rollicking portrayal of Fanny Brice in "Funny Girl," her first movie, said from the podium: "I'm very honored to be in such magnificent company as Katharine Hepburn. The first script of 'Funny Girl' was written when I was 11 years old. Thank God it took so long to get it right."

"It's like when somebody asked if I'm happy. I said, 'Are you kidding? If I was happy I'd be miserable.' I'd like to thank all the members of the academy for making me miserable."

Asked about her comments backstage, she said: "Maybe some people are basically happy when they're miserable."

She said the award was "really unexpected. I never gave it much thought. I enjoy the work, and to get the award for it is just whipped cream on the cake."

There was no explanation of the tie balloting among the 3,030 voting members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Vote totals are never announced.

For best song the Oscar went to the intricate melody, "The Windmills of Your Mind," sung by Noel Harrison in "The Thomas Crown Affair." The French composer, Michel Legrand, was in Paris, working on another film score. The husband-wife lyricists, Marilyn and Alan Bergman, accepted their Oscars.

The Soviet Union's 6½-hour spectacular, "War and Peace," collected the award for best foreign language film. It was presented to the picture's beautiful, dark-haired star, Ludmilla Savalyeva.

Writing winners were James Goldman for adaptation of his play, "The Lion in Winter" and comedian-scenarist Mel Brooks for his original screenplay of "The Producers."

The award to the gray-haired, balding Albertson capped a long career ranging from burlesque comedy to vaudeville, theater and supporting movie roles.

My eternal gratitude will always be reserved for the man who made this moment possible, Frank Gilroy, who wrote "The Subject Was Roses," Albertson said. There were tears in his eyes as he addressed the crowd of 3,000 in the Music Center Pavilion and a nationwide television audience.

Backstage, Albertson remarked that he won Broadway's Tony award in the play and that author Gilroy "insisted I do both the play and the movie."

The 72-year-old Miss Gordon drew loud laughter by admitting she made her film debut in 1915 and said: "I can't tell you how

MAVERICK — newest breed from the Ford Division corral — goes on sale in America's Ford dealerships on Thursday, April 17. Seating a family of four and offering economy of purchase and operation, it is aimed at boosting Ford sales in the booming small car market and serving the needs of buyers who formerly went to imports.

Maverick Now At Sikeston Motor Co.

Sikeston Motor Co., 127 W. Malone in Sikeston, Mo., will introduce the long heralded 1970 Maverick, new small car from Ford Division, on Thursday, April 17.

This $1,995 car is a two-door sedan of modified fastback design with a hint of an air spoiler or "ducktail" at the rear. Designed to carry a family of four with adequate luggage, it is powered by a six-cylinder engine in either of two sizes, 170 or 200 cubic inch displacements. In normal city-suburban driving, it delivers 22½ miles per gallon or easy handling and parking. Transmission choice includes the fully synchronized three-speed manual, the three-speed automatic with optional shift-for-yourself feature, and, for the first time, a new semi-automatic transmission. Cheaper than the automatic and clutchless, it permits a change of gears with a single movement of the hand lever. "Maverick will live up to its retail price for Maverick is a unique, $1,995.

Tree Farming Assures Many Benefits

Growing Trees to Meet the Nation's Needs

It started on June 12, 1941, near Montesano, Wash., where forest industry leaders dedicated one forest—120,000 acres—to growing and harvesting repeated crops of trees.

Today there are almost 30,000 Tree Farms, 67 million acres in all states except Alaska and Hawaii, owned and managed by individuals and companies.

Tree farming, multiple use management of privately owned forest land, assures a continuing supply of raw material for lumber, paper, plywood, chemicals and 5,000 more essential products. It protects our water supply at the source, supports wildlife, and provides recreational opportunities and scenic beauty.

Our company is proud to be among many forest products manufacturers and landowners who sponsor the American Tree Farm System through their educational organization, American Forest Products Industries, Inc.

Spring Colors to Peak

BRANSON, Mo. (AP) — The spring season's outdoor color should be at its peak the weekend of April 19-20.

William Todd, a Department of Conservation forester, said Friday redbuds are about half open and dogwoods are beginning to bloom. Peach and wild plum trees are also showing their spring finery, he said.

Jefferson City officials of the department report the central part of the state is close to the deep Ozarks in spring blooming.

13 Protestors To Appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorneys for 13 persons found guilty of disorderly conduct in a protest march during the Democratic National Convention say they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

The defendants were convicted Monday by Magistrate Arthur L. Dunne of Circuit Court after the longest disorderly conduct trial in Chicago history.

Dunne levied fines from $20 to $100 each plus costs, but stayed the penalties pending the outcome of post-trial motions. A hearing on motions was set for May 9.

"I firmly believe," Dunne said in his decision, "that our cities, and the residents of these cities, can and must be protected by their government from noisy, chanting, shouting, marching, threatening picketers who, under the guise of free speech, hurl pieces of brick, stones and fireworks, bent on filling the minds of men and women and children with fear and hysteria."

One defendant, Miss Patricia Saltonstall, said after the court session: "We believe just as much in the First Amendment's rights."

Two Shots Fired

Police reported two gun shots were fired early this morning behind Hon's Grocery on South Scott no damage was reported. A .22 caliber bullet broke a window in an upstairs apartment Saturday night above the store. There was also a window broken with a brick Saturday night.

Police also reported this morning that Fred Frazier, 226 Bowman, was charged with assault.

Columbian Airliner Hijacked

HAVANA (AP) — A hijacked Colombian airliner landed in Havana Monday night after a stopover in Cartagena where authorities refused to refuel the plane for three hours.

The Sociedad Aeronautica de Medellin (SAM) airliner was carrying 25 passengers and four crewmen on a flight from Medellin to Barranquilla. There was no immediate word when the plane and passengers would be released.

Authorities said there were three hijackers, one of them a young man who held a knife to the pilot's throat and ordered him to fly to Cuba. The pilot replied he did not have enough fuel for the DC4 to make the 600-mile flight and would have to land at Cartagena, on the Caribbean coast of Colombia.

Kingsway Plaza Progress To Become More Apparent

By L. L. SCHADE
Progress on the Kingsway Plaza, located on S. Kingshighway and Murray Lane, will continue this month toward the formation of a 310,000 square feet of building space, according to Shirley Staples, contractor for Inland Construction company, Charleston.

The first two buildings destined to be completed by the first of the year or early spring, are the J. C. Penney Company and Britt's Department Stores. The Penney Company is located on the west central portion of the plaza, and the Britt's building on the southeast corner, nearest S. Kingshighway.

The Penney building will be 180 by 356 feet and will contain 69,605 square feet, with 3,000 square feet for auto supplies, and mechanical room, while the Britt building will be 200 by 300 feet to enclose 60,000 square feet of floor space, with an additional 6,600 mezzanine floor.

A unique mall will cover the entire plaza walkway to all buildings, except the Sawayay Super Market and parking area, which is estimated to cover a million square feet.

Located in the mall, which will average 40 to 50-foot widths, will be rest areas, numerous planters, and a large revolving circular new auto display.

The Safeway store will be along Murray Lane and face S. Kingshighway. It will contain 17,532 square feet. The foundation will be started in two weeks.

The T & Y Variety store will be located on the north side of Britt's, across the mall facing S. Kingshighway and near the center of the Plaza. A 40-foot mall will run north and south from the Britt building. The foundation is now being poured for the 22,580 square foot TG and Y building.

Smaller store units in clusters of four to six, will contain an area of 184 by 125 feet, or the area will be divided into four buildings measuring 21 by 40 feet, and two measuring 42.6 by 84 feet, all to face the south mall.

A 30-foot mall will run 250 feet from the east side of the Plaza to the end of the Penny building.

Two entrances to the mall will be on the S. Kingshighway side, and two on the Murray Lane side, the later area will have five rest areas.

All malls will have suspended acoustical ceilings with large skylights.

Also under construction this year will be a theater, just north of the Penney building, measuring 100 by 125 feet, and located at the west of the theater will be another complex of four smaller shops. This area is now located near the offices of the construction trailers, and will have a large paved parking area.

A final group of small shops will be located on a section now referred as sections H and I facing S. Kingshighway on the east.

Judge Sentences Youths Who Say They Found Beer in Ditch

Judge M. E. Montgomery this morning sentenced Robert Davis, 17, 114 Sixth, and Steve Mattison, 18, route four, Sikeston, to 60 days in the Scott County Jail for having illegal possession of beer.

The sentences and $50 fines were imposed after Judge Montgomery gave the youths an opportunity to tell liquor authorities where they got the beer. James E. Moore III, assistant Scott County prosecuting attorney, told Judge Montgomery the youths claim to have found the beer in a ditch.

"The beer was cold, however, when they were arrested," Moore said.

The offense, to which both pleaded guilty, occurred April 7. Judge Montgomery, upon deciding not to believe the beer in ditch discovery story, told the youths: "You know the facts. I don't believe what you are saying."

Robert Wallace, 138 Fourth, was sentenced to 90 days and fined $50 for having illegal possession of intoxicants. Moore told the court Wallace had been arrested in 1966 on the same charge and had been arrested seven times since 1966 by Sikeston police on various charges. Wallace was also fined

$10 for improper vehicle registration.

Gary Wayne Burnes, Morehouse, was fined $25 and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail for improper vehicle registration. The sentence will be stayed if the fine and court costs are paid by tomorrow morning. The stay of sentence came after the court was informed Burnes' wife had a baby last night.

Bill "Will" Chapman, route four, Sikeston, was given a 60-day suspended jail sentence for assault. He was also fined $5 and costs for the offense.

Sikeston Attorney Margaret Scott was appointed counsel for Jessie Lee "Shake" Davis, Sikeston, who is charged with auto theft. The case was continued until next week.

Ether Storey, 846 Vernon, was fined $100 for driving while intoxicated. Her driver's license was revoked for one year.

Jerry James, 114 Fourth, was fined $222 for driving an overweight truck. Pending good behavior, $111 of the fine was suspended.

A warrant was issued for Larry Pyatt, Mimosa Drive, who failed to appear in court on a no driver's license charge.

Nelda Miller, Dexter, was fined $36 for speeding. Michael Clements, 707 Troy, was fined $10 for the same offense.

David Entekkin, Cape Girardeau, was fined $10 for careless and imprudent driving.

Pearl Seabeauch, also of Cape Girardeau, was fined $10 on the same charge.

Willie Lane, 307 Alabama, was fined $10 for failure to have a driver's license.

John Tarkley, 219 Edmundson, was fined $5 for speeding.

Louis Ogelvie, Fisk, was fined $10 for failure to have adequate brakes.

A charge of felonious theft was continued for Albert Ray Jr., Sikeston, who last week was charged with stealing furniture from Tommie Lane, who lives about four miles north of Sikeston.

He is charged with stealing a gas range, refrigerator, two couches, a dresser, two mattresses, two bed springs, six sheets, four curtains, eight picture frames and various cooking utensils.

A careless and imprudent driving charge was dismissed for George Finnick, Scott City. Court costs were certified by the state.

An improper vehicle registration charge was dismissed against Hershel Duncan, 418 Illinois, Mo. However, will pay $11.50 court costs.

North Korea Says Missing U.S. Plane Shot Down

TOKYO (AP) — The North Koreans, who captured the intelligence ship Pueblo, reported their air force shot down a large U.S. reconnaissance plane today. The U.S. Defense Department said a Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 aboard was missing in the Sea of Japan.

Japanese fishing boats joined U.S. planes in a search for survivors. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow asked the Foreign Ministry for the assistance of any Soviet ships in the area.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the Navy EC121 plane was flying "a routine reconnaissance track" which kept it at least 50 nautical miles from the North Korean coastline.

The Pentagon did not immediately confirm that the North Koreans shot down the huge electronics-packed aircraft but said only that a broad search was launched for the plane and its crew of 31 in the Sea of Japan.

At the Capitol, however, Vice Adm. J. B. Colwell, deputy chief of naval operations, talked as though hostile action was involved.

He called the incident "a clear case of international piracy and a breach of international law." He talked briefly with newsmen before going into a closed session of the House Armed Services Committee. He declined to give further details in public.

At the Pentagon, Daniel Z. Henkin, the Defense Department's chief spokesman, dodged all questions on what may have happened but said "the aircraft was in communication with its base during its mission."

The North Korean news agency, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, claimed the plane intruded deep into North Korean air space and was shot down at 1:50 p.m.—11:50 p.m. EST Monday.

Henkin told newsmen the unarmed plane, jammed with six tons of electronic equipment including radar and gear to intercept radio messages, "was flying a routine reconnaissance track similar to hundreds of missions which have been flown over international waters in that area since 1950."

Aboard the plane, flying out of Atsugi, Japan, was a crew of 30 Navy men and one Marine enlisted man.

"We have no information at this time which confirms the sighting of any survivors," Henkin said.

The U.S. destroyers Tucker and Dale, based at Sasebo, Japan, were dispatched to the general area, within 200 miles of where the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 83 crewmen were captured last year.

In advance of the two destroyers, the Navy sent a big HC130 Hercules rescue aircraft accompanied by a KC135 tanker and combat patrol cover.

Henkin estimated the two destroyers would reach the search and rescue area about 8 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Seas in the area were described as moderate with waves of about four feet and winds of 10 to 16 knots. The air temperature was reported 10 to 16 degrees above freezing temperature, with the sea slightly warmer.

The broadcast gave no information on the fate of those aboard.

It said only that the North Korean air force shot the plane down at a high altitude "by showering fire of revenge upon it."

A spokesman said the flight began about 7:10 a.m. and the aircraft commander was under orders to approach no closer than 50 miles to the coast of North Korea.

The EC121 is heavily loaded with electronic gear, as was the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo which was captured off the North Korean coast on Jan. 23, 1968. The U.S. claimed at the time the ship was in international waters about 25 miles off the North Korean coast.

Search operations today apparently were centered within 200 miles of where the Pueblo and its 83 crewmen were captured. The crew was released late last year.

The missing airplane is a converted Lockheed Super Constellation which has a big hump in the top of the fuselage to carry radar and other monitoring devices.

"It is a large-crew airplane," the spokesman said, confirming that 31 men would not be unusual number to be aboard.

The monitoring equipment requires a number of operators.

In Seoul, a high-ranking U.S. military spokesman refused to comment on the reports.

The North Korean agency said the "U.S. imperialist aggressor army which has been rapidly intensifying the war provocation maneuvers against North Korea of late perpetrated on the morning of the 15th the grave provocation of infiltrating deep into the territorial air of the republic a large-size modern reconnaissance plane to conduct reconnaissance, while perpetrating grave provocations along the military demarcation line."

It said the North Korean air force "instantly spotted" the plane and "scored the brilliant battle success" of shooting it down.

"The U.S. imperialist aggressors must bear in mind that the stern warning of the Korean People's Army is not empty talk and the Korean People's Army counters any provocation of the U.S. imperialist aggressors instantly with a hundred-fold, thousand-fold retaliatory blow," the broadcast said.

The Pentagon said an air search was being made approximately 95 miles southeast of Chongjin, North Korea.

About the time of the announcement in Washington, the U.S. Navy in Saigon abruptly cancelled an awards ceremony Wednesday aboard the aircraft carrier Ranger off Vietnam. A Navy spokesman in Saigon said he did not know if the cancellation was directly connected with the plane incident.

South Vietnam's defense minister and other officials had been scheduled to go aboard the Ranger to present medals to about 50 U.S. Navy men.

Nixon Begins Spelling out Details of Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveiled today more details about budget cuts said to represent "hard choice and potentially unpopular decisions." The only agency to wind up with more money is the Justice Department.

Announcing new spending figures for each agency under a revised budget calculated to produce a $5.8 billion surplus in the fiscal year starting July 1, Nixon revealed more than half of the $4 billion in reductions he is claiming come out of defense and military-aid programs and scaled down legislation to increase Social Security benefits.

The cut in planned military spending, put at $1.1 billion, was attributed largely to "lower consumption of ammunition in Vietnam," a cutback of the antiballistic missile program proposed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and "modification" of purchases of short-range attack missiles.

Another $1 billion of the reductions was attributed to whittling down another Johnson plan — never transmitted to Congress but included in his January budget — to increase Social Security benefits.

Nixon called for a 7 per cent increase in those benefits and proposed liberalization of the retirement test so retired persons can retain their benefits while receiving increased outside earnings.

Johnson had proposed a 10 per cent boost at a cost of $1.6 billion.

Johnson's budget envisioned outlays totaling $195.3 billion. Uncontrollable changes such as interest on the national debt and farm price supports boosted these to a "corrected" total of $196.9 billion, Budget Bureau Director Robert P. Mayo said.

The Nixon budget, he added, assumes outlays of $192.9 billion.

The original Johnson forecast of a $3.4 billion surplus next year has been scaled down to $1.8 billion, Mayo said. The $5.8 billion that now represents the 1970 surplus target figure results from combining the $1.8 billion and $4 billion.

Two Area Mental Retardation Centers in Hearnese Requests

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes brought his total capital improvements budget up to $434 million Monday.

He recommended to the Missouri Legislature an additional $35,040,802 and urged it to get on with the job of raising the money.

Now $43,475,842 would go to make capital improvements from General Revenue. Money from special funds such as highway, conservation, park and others, would raise the grand total to $46,924,842.

Hearnes' latest move was based on his earlier recommendation that the legislature enact revenue bills to provide at least an additional $80 million a year.

In his message, sent by messenger to the House and Senate, Hearnes said:

"The House of Representatives has now passed and sent to the Senate revenue producing measures which, if the Senate concurs, will allow the general assembly to adopt the attached recommendations."

"I urge the early consideration and passage by the Senate of House-passed revenue producing measures and for one to serve subsequent passage of my Caruthersville-Hayward and recommendations for capital improvements."

Fred Wilkinson, director of the Department of Corrections, recommended to start planning a testified before the Senate Appropriations committee Monday on one measure included in Hearnes' supplemental budget.

That was a request for $6.1 million for a new maximum security unit to be located in a yet unchosen site.

Wilkinson said it would permit prison officials to take those inmates who cause the biggest control problem away from the general population of the prison.

Other recommendations by Hearnes:

A juvenile treatment center at the St. Louis State Hospital in Columbia, $4.7 million.

A new building at Ellis Fischel Cancer Hospital in Columbia, $7.3 million.

Projects at the four University of Missouri campuses, $11.3 million.

Projects at the five state colleges and Lincoln University, $2.6 million.

Hearnes said he chose projects on the basis of priority listings in his original budget but which were not recommended then "because of financial limitations."

Two new mental retardation centers were approved — $481,768 for one at Caruthersville-Hayward and $434,393 to serve Sikeston-Charleston. An additional $36,745 was recommended to start planning a similar center in North Kansas City.

Another $770,000 was asked to continue renovation of the State Capitol and other buildings in the Capitol complex. And $750,000 was recommended to build an additional floor on the Waggoner building—Highway Patrol headquarters.

Here are the totals for the state hospitals with almost all the money going for repairs and improvements regarded as essential:

Fulton $99,020, St. Joseph $420,015, Nevada $422,950, Farmington $576,935, St. Louis $5,042,000 including $4,750,000 for the new juvenile center, Marshall State School $52,584, St. Louis State School $1,169,803 including $729,212 for a diagnostic and day care clinic, Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center in St. Louis $69,513, Western Missouri Mental Health Center at Kansas City $53,000.

Totals for the universities and colleges:

University of Missouri $11,396,000 including $5.5 million for the new boiler and generator at Columbia and $2,720,000 for remodeling and renovation at Columbia, Rolla and Kansas City.

Lincoln University $700,000 including $500,000 for additions and rehabilitation of the central power plant and heating system and the rest for major repairs and renovation.

Central State College at Warrensburg $1 million, half for a new warehouse and shop building and the rest for major repairs.

Northeast State at Kirksville $963,952 for repairs and renovation.

Northwest State at Maryville $488,000 including $150,000 to renovate the old Industrial Arts Building, $115,000 for an agriculture equipment shop, $113,000 to air condition Colden Hall and $10,000 for repairs.

Southeast State at Cape Girardeau $654,080, including $256,520 for addition of Music Building classrooms, $164,020 to rehabilitate buildings and grounds, $149,040 for utility extensions and $84,500 to add a third floor to the Industrial Arts Building.

Southwest State at Springfield $1,035,000 including $815,000 to renovate the 1927 Science Building and $220,000 for additions and repair of existing facilities.

Concert Choir to Sing Sunday at Middle School

The Sikeston high school Concert Choir VII will be presented in the twelfth annual Spring Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Middle School Auditorium.

Concert Choir VI will be Jan Sargent. The 155 Voiced Concert Choirs are under the direction of Gordon Beaver.

Concert Choir VII will present two groups of choral literature, varied enough to suit all the tastes. Sacred and popular numbers of today's musical world will be presented. This will mark the first year the high school Concert Choirs have presented two spring concerts.

During the concert, incidental solos will be performed by members of the Concert Choir VII. They include: Barbara Armour, John Hough, Paul Latham, Larry McCann, John Winders, and Tonja Thompson.

Instrumental accompaniment on some of the choral numbers will be provided by Tim Chambers, Bob Lambert, Ricky Cox, and Alex Waters.

The Concert Choirs: VI & VII will begin and end the concert with both choirs combining into one 155-voiced choir.

Tuesday, April 15, 1969, If you get through today . . . you'll still have tomorrow to face.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

THE VIOLENT SPECIES

Assassinations, crime, war, racial tension and student unrest have led to searching inquiries into the nature and causes of violence in American society. Dr. Margaret Mead, the noted anthropologist, will address herself to the subject in a lecture to be delivered at Lafayette College's second All-College Symposium on Wednesday, April 16.

"Of all animals only man, it seems, lacks some part of (the) instinct that protects the species from mutual slaughter," poet John Thompson has written (Commentary, April 1969). "We cannot any longer call violent men 'bestial' or say that an area of 'unbridled' aggression is a 'jungle.' A jungle is a rather peaceful place, no more red in tooth and claw than is necessary for the survival of the various species that eat members of other species and never their own. We ought to say to those who act violently, 'Don't be human.'"

Violence in the United States has deep roots. Rowdy mobs were active in colonial times, and they occasionally frightened the revolutionary leaders who tried to lead them. The British were likewise appalled. "Sir," said Samuel Johnson to a friend in 1769, "they (the Americans) are a race of convicts, and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging." In a letter written one year after Cornwallis's surrender at Yorktown, George III said that he "should be miserable indeed" about the loss of America if he did "not also know that knavery seems to be so much the striking feature of its inhabitants that it may not in the end be an evil that they will be aliens to this kingdom."

Five days after the assassination last June 5 of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, President Johnson established a National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence to "look into the causes, the occurrence and the control of physical violence across this nation." So far the commission has examined isolated instances of violence, such as that which occurred in Chicago during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. If the commission should come up with a workable prescription for preventing or even alleviating violence, it would be welcomed not only by Americans but by all mankind.

At one time a poor man was a fellow with no money; now, he's a fellow with a pocket full of credit cards.

Kids who do things for kids should get 'em.

"THEY HAD NO WORD FOR CRISIS - ONLY DANGER AND OPPORTUNITY"

When China was a great, creative nation, its colorful language had no word for crisis. Instead they used two words - danger and opportunity.

Might be a good rule for this country today.

There is grave danger of ruinous inflation, yet opportunity to stop it by producing more value for everything we receive.

There is danger of overwhelming Federal debt, yet opportunity to control and reduced it by asking less of Government and doing more things for ourselves.

There is danger abroad, yet opportunity to strengthen our defenses by listening to our experts and respecting them for the patriots they are.

All the traits and human resources which made this nation great are still here, but obscured by a selfishness which has made too many cry for something for nothing. And that has brought a crisis but one which can still be met by recognizing those dangers and grasping the opportunity to return to work, in true American character.

Warner & Swasey

On the night of March 29, a 22-year-old Detroit policeman left his prowl car to question, a band of men carrying rifles. He was shot dead. There was a "shoot-out" when his comrades, summoned by his wounded partner, rushed a gathering of "citizens" of something called the Republic of New Africa.

Then, for the first time, the "Republic" and its leaders flashed into the national headlines.

Many were puzzled by the new "Republic." But those who follow your columnist Victor Reisel were not unaware of its existence, its purpose, or its revolutionary operations.

Six months before the shooting, Victor Reisel discussed the Republic of New Africa, its "cabinet minister," its links to a veteran Communist activist and to the efforts to disrupt the nation's school system. Reisel also revealed that the "Republic" had a training camp in New York State.

Reisel's column was dispatched on Oct. 10, 1968. Several months later, it was featured in magazines. Six months later, it shot itself into the front page heads.

An Iowa Public Service Company release noted that 87 per cent of Americans die without having made wills. Nearly $100,000,000 accumulates in probate courts each week, because people "forgot" to make wills. See your lawyer today! Remember to make that will today; tomorrow may be too late.

Lee Austin Bowman said it: "Progress consists largely of learning to apply laws and truths that have always existed."

Thus, the ancients knew about the kite, the expansion of gases in combustion, and the screw. Millennia later, man discovered how to utilize burning gases in the internal combustion engine; he modified the kite's plane surface into an airfoil and he adapted the screw into a propeller, so the Wrights, Langley, Bleriot and other pioneers could develop a machine that flies.

Likewise, the ancients knew about jet power; they mounted a hollow ball on an axle and set it on supports; they put water in the ball, attached spouts pointing in opposite directions, and built a fire under the ball. Thus was born jet power, now heaving us moonward.

GETTING THROUGH TO SHAREHOLDERS

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which used to feed up to 15,000 shareholders at its annual meetings, has scheduled this year's annual review of business for Wednesday, April 16, in Atlanta, Ga. - without lunch. Most corporations have stopped feeding their shareholders at these events, after discovering that some were not only freeloading but taking two or three lunches.

Most corporations operating a calendar year basis are required by the New York Stock Exchange to send annual reports to shareholders by March 31. An April date for the annual meeting gives shareholders time to digest the printed reports. Companies at the same time are enabled to come up with an idea of first - quarter sales and earnings. This year the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge is having a depressing effect on first-quarter earnings reports.

More than 80 corporations scheduled their annual meetings for either the fourth Tuesday or the last Tuesday in April. This year these dates would be April 22 and 29, respectively. Some companies make a road show of their annual meetings, trying from year to year to hit centers of areas where their stock is widely held. Others make it no easier than the law requires for stockholders to attend.

Annual reports to stockholders continue the trend toward elaborate printing and illustration, with four-color covers comparable to those of the poshest magazines. The Bell System's report, only about average fancy, is figured to have cost 17 cents per stockholder. Doesn't sound like much, but when you figure that A.T. & T. has about 3.1 million stockholders, it comes to $527,000, not counting freebies for the press and business friends. (R.S.)

CHALLENGE TO CONGLOMERATES

Sen. Philip A. Hart, chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, predicted more than three years ago that 200 corporations would own 75 per cent of the country's manufacturing assets within a decade unless the government took preventive action. Hart's warning clearly was aimed at the increase of conglomerate mergers - those which unite companies engaged in unrelated activities or companies making similar products which do not compete in the same part of the country.

Now, after a long period of apparent indecision, the Justice Department has taken action. In what may prove a legal landmark in the antitrust field, the department will file suit against Ling-Temco-Vought by Tuesday, April 15, with the aim of forcing LTV to divest itself of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. The government has permitted LTV to continue to buy additional J & L stock up to a maximum of 81 per cent of shares outstanding. In turn, LTV agreed to relinquish all interest in the steel concern if the Justice Department wins its suit.

Conglomerates have undergone fantastic growth in recent years. Between 1965 and 1967, Litton Industries advanced from 102nd to 44th place in the Fortune directory of the 500 largest industrial corporations (rankings based on net sales). Textron went from 80th to 49th in the same period. But Ling - Temco - Vought has risen faster and farther: from 168th in 1966 to 38th in 1967. The acquisition of Jones & Laughlin, with 1967 sales of $906.3 million (half those of LTV) and assets of $1.09 billion (as compared with LTV's $845.1 million), would lift the Ling empire into or close to the top 20 on Fortune's list. That prospect probably will make for a hard-fought case on both sides.

NEW YORK (AP) - Staying out of trouble is one of the marks of success. Getting into trouble is one of the marks of failure.

But how can one stay out of trouble? One of the best ways is knowing when to say no.

Here, for example, are a few invitations which, if accepted, are likely to lead only to disaster:

"If I tell you what really happened to me, will you lend me the money to bail myself out?"

"You fellows look like you're really getting kick out of that poker game. Would you mind if a stranger sat in for a few hands? Here's my business card."

Wouldn't you rather buy the gin for your Martinis by the case instead of the bottle, sir? Over the years you'd save quite a sum."

"I don't know why you think wives can't judge racehorses, George. If I win more than you do at the track today, will you double the amount?"

"Perhaps the baby has an upset stomach. Why don't you let me hold him in my lap while you go to the medicine cabinet and get something to soothe him?"

"So what if he is growling? That doesn't bother me. I've always had a way with dogs. Let me show you. Here, Tighe! Here, Boy!"

"Sure I've got a chip on my shoulder. And if you think you're man enough to knock it off, why don't you try-starting right now?"

"The only way I can figure for you to get back a tax refund is to put do... $40 for charitable contributions. Don't worry -you've got such a kind-looking face they'd never think of questioning the amount."

"Gee, Jane, see the cute little black-and-white striped pussy cat over there by the edge of the woods? It looks hungry. Why don't we go over and feed it some of our leftover picnic scraps?"

"If I let you make all the long-distance phone calls you want, Gladys, will you give me your word of honor that you'll get a passing grade in your math course this semester?"

"Why don't we try to make it all the way without wasting time stopping at a filling station, Dad? Jimmy told me when he finally got home with the car last night that he left the tank almost full of gas."

"If we brace the boss together. If we tell him we'll both resign unless he follows our suggestion, he's bound to back down."

"If you think that guy next door is so much nicer a husband than I am, Edna, why don't you just draw all the money out of our joint account and run away from home with him?"

The Missouri Highway Patrol reports that over half of the 40 pedestrian traffic deaths recorded in the State during the first three months of the year involved pedestrians over 60 or under 14 years of age.

A total of 29 pedestrians in these age groups lost their lives during January, February and March of this year. Fifteen of these pedestrians were in the young age group and the remaining 14 were over 60 years old.

The youngest pedestrian killed during the three-month period was a 22 month old boy. The oldest person killed while walking was a 93 year old woman.

"The responsibility for the safety of junior and senior pedestrians is largely in the hands of drivers," said Colonel E.L. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol. "Members of these two groups are non-drivers and often are not aware of the responsibilities of pedestrians or the difficulties of driving. Children outdoors are absorbed in play. They have their minds on retrieving a ball or catching a playmate across the street. Youngsters do not think of traffic dangers. Senior citizens, at the same time, often have defective eyesight or hearing and cannot recognize a dangerous situation. Many are not aware of the hazards and pedestrians safeguards of today's traffic."

Colonel Hockaday urged drivers to use extra caution and alertness when pedestrians of these two age groups are near traffic.

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Presidential brothers can cause headaches; Don Nixon and Sam Johnson are cases in point; Pentagon experts undermine Laird's ABM argument.

WASHINGTON-All of a sudden, a couple of presidential brothers, hitherto kept in the background, have been caught by the spotlight. President Nixon's brother Ed abruptly gave up a government job in Alaska and ex-president Johnson's brother Sam found a publisher for his memoirs.

The inside fact is that both presidents have gnawed their fingernails over their brothers. The late President Eisenhower was also unhappy about his brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore. It isn't Ed, however, who worries President Nixon so much as his other brother, Don.

Both Don Nixon and Sam Johnson have not been adverse to taking advantage of their brothers' position for their own benefit. When Richard Nixon was vice president, Don wangled a $205,000 loan from billionaire Howard Hughes, a major government contractor. The loan was never repaid.

President Nixon no sooner had moved into the White House in January than Don began sounding out business acquaintances about business deals.

White House intimates, including communications chief Herb Klein, have cautioned the president to keep a leash on Don. But a president can't always control his brother.

While Lyndon Johnson was in the White House, for example, Sam would turn up in North Carolina or Mexico scouting for deals that could have backfired against the president.

-My Brother Lyndon- When word of Sam's activities got back to Lyndon, he would show his displeasure by giving Sam the "Silent Treatment."

GOVERNMENT POLICIES
CAUSE INFLATION

Who is to blame for inflation? The implication in many of the legislative proposals now before Congress is that most of the blame lies with private citizens. Government spokesmen warn business and labor to behave prudently in setting wages and prices. If they don't, they are threatened with wage and price controls. Travel spending by U.S. citizens is blamed for aggravating the gold crisis. Heavy tax increases are recommended because private citizens are guilty of spending too much money.

A distinguished economist, Mr. W. Allen Wallis, who is now president of the University of Rochester, places the blame for inflation where belongs: "Inflation can be generated only by the government. Business firms, labor unions, or consumers with excessive market power can do many objectionable things that are contrary to the public interest, but... they cannot... cause inflation - or, for that matter, prevent it." Inflation is the direct result of government spending beyond the producing and taxpaying ability of the citizens. *

But this never seemed to inhibit silenced Sam.

Last month we reported that Sam was peddling his memoirs in New York City. Reporters finally tracked Sam down at El Morocco. He acknowledged that his memoirs, which he said would be called "My Brother Lyndon," had just been sold to Look magazine.

"Yes," he admitted, "I'm going to say things that Lyndon can't say."

The late president Kennedy, though apprehensive over how the public would take it, decided to bring his brother out into the open as Attorney General and passed it off with a quip about wanting to give his brother some legal experience.

If President Kennedy could appoint his brother to the cabinet, Richard Nixon felt he at least could offer his brother a minor government job. Ed happens to be a conscientious, likeable fellow fully qualified for government service.

Ed chose a government job in Alaska because he happens to like Alaska, but when the new federal law against nepotism was called to his attention, he immediately abandoned his plans in the middle of his anchorage house hunting.

Note-The Nepotism Law was introduced by Rep. Neal Smith, Iowa Democrat, and finally passed as a result of reaction to the Sen. Tom Dodd misbehavior. -Doubtful ABM-

Doubts about the controversial, multi-billion-dollar anti-ballistic missile system are beginning to bubble to the surface even inside the pentagon. Chief justification for the ABM program is to protect our offensive weapons, namely the minutemen, from being wiped out in a single, saturation attack. To do this an enemy would have to accomplish hundreds of Pearl Harbors simultaneously by destroying all our retaliatory weapons. Unless there was a total knockout, the United States would be able to strike back with such a devastating blow that the cost to the enemy would be too terrible.

Secretary of Defense Laird is trying to peddle the idea that Russia is now building a first-strike capability, which by 1976, he believes, would produce enough first-line missiles to knock out entire retaliatory force in one surprise blow.

Some of Laird's subordinates, however, don't believe it. They are tipping off senators that Russia will never be able to deliver a knockout blow during the 1970s. Thereafter, the ABM system probably would be obsolete.

These experts point out Laird is assuming Russia might fire all her missiles at the United States in one massive salvo. Actually, Russia is deploying at least 20 per cent of her missiles against Red China.

Russia wouldn't dare fire all her missiles at the United States and leave herself wide open to Chinese attack.

This means Russia isn't likely to risk war with the United States.

The Red Army marshals have always been cautious in war and have placed first priority upon defense. If they should ever decide upon a broad-side against the United States, they not only would want to keep enough missiles to hold China at bay but they would almost certainly retain several reserve missiles in case the attack was not successful. From 20 to 40 per cent of the missiles could be expected either to misfire or to miss their target. It would take a direct hit to knock out a minuteman missile in its underground silo.

All these imponderables, according to the experts, would demand more missiles than the Russians should be able to produce during the 1970s. In other words, the whole theory behind the ABM system is subject to challenge.

THE INAUGURAL BALL
During the recent inauguration several members of my family were in Washington for the occasion. We had invitations to the inaugural balls and I decided quite late to attend the one at the Mayflower Hotel, to which I already had a ticket.

Upon entering the ballroom I was pleased to see the very large crowd of fine people assembled. While observing the events and contemplating where I might be seated, a Congressman from Arkansas asked me to take his seat and hold it until he returned, as he was leaving for a while. It was well located, near the edge of the dance floor and several of the dancers came over to visit with me.

After about 10 minutes, Governor Winthrop Rockefeller came in and took a seat near me, saying "This is my box." I did not anticipate the extent of one person's reservation. At that time, I left the box to follow a gentleman who insisted he could find me a box seat nearer the orchestra.

Ascertaining that none was available, I went across the ballroom to a box where the occupants had previously invited me to join them.

In times as critical as these I prefer to devote most of my time and much of my resources to projects that I believe are beneficial toward preserving this Republic. These include YOUTH FREEDOM SPEAKERS, LIFE LINE, REFORM OF THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE, writing letters to the editor which extol freedom and publishing books presenting the personal enterprise system favorably. ## Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Sen. Kennedy Told Them He's Definitely Running in '72, Labor Leaders Report.

Washington, D.C.: - From one tight-knit, close-mouthed labor circle, the message is that Ted Kennedy has told its people that he's "ready for '72." He'll run for president. And it's not too early to move Bob Kennedy's labor machine into action - not noisily but slowly and very definitely.

They're moving. They're looking at the old bandwagon. It won't be easy to grease it with the Robert F. Kennedy Today, labor is split wide open - and the powerful political machinery is in the hands of those with whom Bob Kennedy was persona non grata.

The Massachusetts senator, now unwinding for the first time in almost a year, relaxing, endlessly conferencing, still resents the "shafing" of his brother. But he's careful not to make his brother's tactical and diplomatic political mistakes inside labor.

His labor allies and activists are out of the old CIO. There's a "young" Paul Jennings, leader of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE). There are some of Walter Reuther's younger lieutenants and ex-aides.

But it's in George Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters, Ted Kennedy knows, that his toughest political problem is deeply embedded. He's persona grata there. But they don't throw parties or roses in his path when he comes.

Nor do they buy tickets to the banquets thrown to liquidate the $3 million debt rolled up during Bob Kennedy's campaign for the presidential nomination. Back in January, there were virtually no national AFL-CIO people paying tribute to the Kennedys at the mammoth Hilton fund-raising dinner.

He does his best to avoid hurting anyone's feelings there. Not only because its national Committee on Political Education (COPE) almost elected Hubert Humphrey and may try again in '72, but because Ted Kennedy believes it would be extremely difficult to go anywhere without the 14 million - member labor movement - up or down the Hill.

And so he makes all the right moves. When, for example, he was about to take his public posture in opposition to the Safeguard antiballistic missile system he telephoned George Meany's intellectual -in-residence, the self-effacing Lane Kirkland. They did not agree. But they did talk amiably.

Sen. Kennedy doesn't enthuse the chiefs of labor's rarely visible infrastructure. They're not his enemy. But they're not his ally. So Ted Kennedy builds his own trade union infrastructure. He's talked with Teamsters leaders and found them less brutal, less adamant. He's been invited to speak at central labor councils which would not open their doors to brother Bob.

And whenever he wants it, he has a power base in something called the Center for Community Change - funded by the Ford Foundation's $3.5 million. This is an umbrella organization coordinating several older units for work among the poor. It is officially interlocked with the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation.

If Ted Kennedy doesn't see the CCC as a powerful Reutherite labor base - the national AFL-CIO leaders do. Some of them fault the Ford Foundation for setting it up under the direction of Jack Conway, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Mr. Conway, an imaginative launcher of committees, is an intimate of United Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther.

For a long time, Mr. Conway was the "redhead's" executive assistant. Then he virtually ran the OEO. Finally he headed the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept. of which Mr. Reuther was nominal president. When the auto union leader launched oratorical fusillades at Mr. Meany, Jack Conway was at "Walter's" side. When Mr. Reuther sought to peel some union chiefs from the AFL-CIO, Jack Conway was alongside the Detroit.

Today Mr. Reuther is on the CCC's board of directors, along with several strategists of the old Bob Kennedy headquarters. There are no AFL-CIO men on the CCC list. They see the center as a "platform for Walter Reuther." That's positive.

And it should be remembered that the recent 40,000-word blast at Mr. Reuther was unanimously approved by the federation's high council.

There's an open war here, Ted Kennedy is caught in the middle. These wars get to be verbally bloody. Mr. Reuther has been needing the powerful AFL-CIO chiefs for several years now. They took their time. They took careful aim. They hit him and will continue to fight him wherever he shows up. He's emerged in several spots alongside Ted Kennedy and the old Kennedy machine now pulsating cross-country.

So, quite gingerly, Ted Kennedy tries to make his peace with the labor chiefs, whose backing he must have to win the Democratic nomination in '72, without the kind of fight which brutalized Hubert Humphrey.

At the same time, he's taking no chances. He's told his own labor allies to get swinging. They are, they believe '72 is closer than you think.

Man Who Locks Up Wallet May Be Sick

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 25 years. We have four fine children and a comfortable home. Our marriage is far from perfect but I consider it as good as most. Last night Vernon insulted me in a way I shall never forget. He brought home a safe with a lock on it bigger than my head.

When we got ready for bed, Vernon took his billfold out of his pocket, scooped up his small change, removed his cuff links and watch and put everything in the safe. He didn't say one word the whole time, just gave me sort of a triumphant look and turned off the light.

Ann, I have never taken a thing in my life that didn't belong to me. I wouldn't dream of snooping through Vernon's pockets. Why he chose to insult me this way is a total mystery. Our house has never been robbed so he can't be worried about burglars.

Vernon has always been on the quiet side and kept to himself. He is 52 years old and seems to be in good health. What do you make of this? -- Mystified persists, urge him to see a doctor for a checkup. And be sure to inform the doctor about your husband's strange behavior. Vernon might be going through the male menopause.

Dear Mys: The man sounds unwell. If this strange behavior

Dear Ann Landers: I read an article in the paper that burned me up. It went something like this: "Are you responsible for making a thief out of a perfectly nice kid?" The article said that whenever a person leaves his keys in the ignition of his car he is encouraging some "perfectly nice kid" to be a thief.

Of all the crackpot ideas, this one takes the cake. What in the world has happened to good old-fashioned honesty? Teen-agers behave according to the standards they are raised by. The values learned as young children are deeply ingrained by the time they are 12 years of age. When I was 16 I wouldn't have touched a dollar if a million of 'em were stacked up in front of me simply because I was taught early not to take things that didn't belong to me.

Now they've twisted things up so the person who leaves the keys in the car is just as guilty as the kid who steals it. How crazy can the sociologists get? -- Born Too Late

Dear Born: I agree, some kids wouldn't dream of stealing a car, keys or not, but the point of the article was that we shouldn't make car setting easy because some kids are borderliners and behave impulsively.

No matter how you look at it, there has been an appalling increase in car stealing -- nearly 65% of all car thefts in 1967 were pulled off by teen-agers.

Confidential to Opinion Needed: Paradise Now meant Jail Later for some of those actors who got carried away. Nudity is getting to be a big fat bore and I firmly believe that people will get sick of theater garbage, movie trash, pornography -- the whole rotten scene -- and they will fade into oblivion.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex -- Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe Observe 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe were honored Easter Sunday with a surprise open house to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. It was given by their sons, John and Mike. About 100 attended the reception between 2 and 5 p.m.

The table was covered with white cloth and silver net. It was centered with a three tiered cake decorated in silver and white.

Assisting their sons in serving and planning were Mrs. DeWint Zaricor, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Scherer, Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Struwe of Charleston, Miss Sue Struwe of Memphis, and Mrs. Sandy Struwe Gillum of Lexington, Ky. Miss Sharon Scherer was at the serving table, Miss Sidney Scherer presided at the guest book, and Miss Sara Struwe of Charleston was at the gift table. Mr. and Mrs. Struwe were married April 9, 1944 at the First Methodist church by the Rev. E. W. Bartley.

A native of Sikeston, Struwe is office manager of Ray Clinton Construction Co. Mrs. Struwe, a homemaker, is a native of Morley. The couple's oldest son,

John, has been accepted into medical school at the University of Missouri and Mike, who is a senior at Sikeston high school, has been accepted into the University of Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Struwe were honored Sunday with a family dinner at the home of Mrs. Struwe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dye of Morley.

Women's Club Activities

The monthly meeting of the Jaycee-Ettes was held Thursday at the Sikeston Country club.

Mrs. Jolene Walker, director of the KMPL Community Club Awards. Campaign, was the guest speaker. She explained all of the details of the program, and how the Jaycee-Ettes could participate.

Linda Jones, president, presided over the business meeting. Judy Sickal read the minutes of the last meeting, and Phyllis Harp gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Jones went through the duty of each club officer, and an election was held. Judy Sickal will serve as the new president. Other officers are Sondra Templeton, vice-president; Debbie Carpenter, secretary; Margie Anderton, treasurer; Margaret Lambert, corresponding secretary. These officers were installed Saturday with the new Jaycee officers, and will take office at the May meeting.

Sondra Templeton was appointed chairman of the Community Club Awards Campaign and Betty McGill will serve as co-chairman. Any Jaycee-Ette wishing more information on this project could contact either of the chairmen.

Mrs. Sickal reminded the members of the trip to the Cape Jaycee Wives meeting May 21.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Linda Jones and Phyllis Harp.

Margie Anderton and Carolyn Miller were hostesses for this meeting.

The Sikeston Newcomer's Club met April 3 in the community room of the First National Bank with five members present and five guests.

Miss Spicer from the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic, explained exactly what the purpose of the clinic is. This is the only clinic of its type in the United States. More are planned so that the mentally retarded can be cared for in their own communities.

A business meeting followed the talk. Three new officers were elected to replace those who have moved. Elected were: Roberta Whitten, treasurer; Ellen Pilleros, sunshine chairman; and Eileen Scheu, secretary.

After the business meeting refreshments were served by Irene Bruner and Betty Hampton.

CWU To Observe Fellowship Day

The plans for May Fellowship Day, which is observed annually in Sikeston by Church Women United, were finalized when the committee members, Mrs. George T. Johnson, Mrs. Mac McGahey and Mrs. James Edgar Byrd met during the past week at the home of Mrs. Carl Schorle, chairman of the event.

Mrs. Burt Rowe Sr., CWU president, also was present to assist in compiling a complete list of the thirty-two churches in Sikeston which will be contacted in an effort to draw non-participating churches into the CWU activity here in Sikeston.

The national theme for May Fellowship Day Service will place emphasis on the exceptional people in our community, with an appeal to consider their special needs in the way of understanding, care and companionship.

The host church for this occasion, to be held on May 2 at 7:30, will be the First Church of the Nazarene, Scott and Trotter Streets. Women of all faiths are encouraged to attend this service, which is brief, followed by a fellowship hour.

PTA News

The executive committee of the southwest school Parent Teacher Association held its last meeting of this school year at the home of Mrs. Barbara Hitchcock.

The President, Gerald Howard, presided and heard the reports from the various chairmen. Reports were made on all the activities of the year and plans were made to install the newly elected officers.

The annual cake walk will be held at the meeting tonight.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Parents and Teens Can Communicate

"They just don't understand same time the youth is saying, us." "What will they do next?" "They never listen."

Communication is a two-way street. It takes two to communicate. That is two people who respect each other enough to listen and to talk and exchange ideas. One person has to be listening while the other is talking or there can be no exchange of ideas. If the parent is so busy trying to think up reasons why not, while the youth is explaining, that he doesn't hear, is this a conversation? And the reverse is also true. Each must listen and "try" to understand what the other is trying to express.

The ease of communication is a skill that takes a great deal of use to perfect. It just doesn't begin when the youth reaches his teens. It has to be practiced from the timethe child first begins to talk. It does go through a very hard test during the teen years for many reasons. The teens will sometimes feel parents are old fashioned or behind times. (Test yourself parents -- how many times do you say to your modern youth, "When I was a boy.") Or youth may turn to others their own age because they share common problems, or communications may be harder because the teen is not always sure "what he feels" or "why" and we as parents unwillingly cause further doubts with our questions or criticisms.

So what's the answer? There are no concrete answers but some suggestions we as parents may try are: Try to learn about the teen world. (Not become an "overgrown" teen but rather try to see what it's like for a teen.) We need to try to accept our teens' need for growth and independence. (Have confidence in all those years of guiding you have put in before he reaches his teens.); don't be afraid to set goals and limits and stick to them, but have good, sound, fair reasons for the rules and allow the youth a say in developing the rules; and try to relate to our teens that our love will always be there. We will always stand beside them. We may not always like or approve of what they do, but disapproval is for their action -- our love remains for them.

Dr. Otto Schaefer of the Northern Medical Research Unit of Edmonton's Charles Camag Hospital said Canadian Eskimos traditionally nurse a child three or more years, and the mothers are usually in continuous lactation from age 17 to 50.

A 15-year medical study of the Canadian Eskimo population, which increased from less than 9,000 to more than 13,000 in that time, turned up only one case of breast cancer -- a 40-year-old woman who nursed seven of her 10 children for less than the normal period.

In Japan and among Greenland Eskimos, said Schaefer, breast feeding had declined in popularity and as a result he said, the incidence of breast cancer is increasing. Japan's mortality from breast cancer almost doubled between 1910 and 1950, he said.

Schaefer didn't rule out heredity as a cause of breast cancer, but added: "The common contributing factor appears to be either the decrease in the duration of breast feeding or its complete elimination -- a result of assimilation by Western culture."

Do FALSE TEETH

Rock, Slide or Slip?

Don't live in fear of false teeth loosening, wobbling or dropping just at the wrong time. For more security and more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. FASTEETH holds false teeth flatter. Makes eating easier. No pasty, sooty taste. Helps check "denture breath." Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR PRESCRIPTION:

Why it isn't always good to the very last drop

Unlike an old friend, you cannot rely upon an old prescription to do a thorough job... especially the same one for which it was originally intended. Drugs lose their potency over a number of years and some increase in strength through evaporation. Not only might a drug prove ineffective but it may be dangerous as well. Adverse storage conditions could also affect the prescription. Chemical changes can occur within the liquid, capsule or tablet. Then, too, there is the constant danger of a child reaching for an old prescription. Thinking it's candy... or simply imitating you... he might swallow the contents. The results may be tragic. Never depend upon a prescription lasting forever. Let your doctor re-prescribe for your present condition... after all he is the expert! And once you have regained your health, always destroy the remainder of your prescription.

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

SHS Athletes Face Busy Week

By TERRY NOWELL
Golf, tennis, and track teams will see action this week as Sikeston High School participants are scheduled to take part in the three sports.

Golf and tennis competition is set for today and Thursday with the tracksters going to the field today, Wednesday, and Friday.

Bulldog golfers seem to be on their way to another fine season as they now stand at 2-0 for the young season.

Golfers will face one of their defeated victims today as they compete against Kennett in their first home match of the season.

Bulldogs should be able to bring the match out today as they defeated the Indians by a considerable margin in the previous competition and will have the added advantage of playing on their home course.

Sikeston golfers then travel to Caruthersville on Thursday. This is the first time for them to play the Tiger squad this year, but they are expected to come out ahead as Sikeston will have the advantages of experience and momentum behind them.

Coach John Brooke's tennis squad is also slated to try and better its record this week, also meeting Kennett and Caruthersville on the same days as the golf team.

Today's match with Kennett should be a real battle for the Bulldogs as the Indians have their first four men back from last year's squad, compared to Sikeston's two veterans.

Thursday's tennis competition should be more evenly matched, however, as both teams should be about equal in experience and depth.

In rank order, boys expected to see competition in the singles division are David Patton, David Owens, Hunter Moore, Jeff Comer, Chuck Leible, and Keith Colley.

Doubles contests are expected to be headed by the team of Patton - Leible, Owens - Colley, and Comer - Moore.

Rounding out Tuesday's competition, the freshman track squad will take part in the Kennett invitation junior high track meet.

Two divisions will be featured in the meet as the freshmen make up one and seventh and eighth grades will take part in the other.

Schools expected to take part in this competition are Sikeston, Kennett, Charleston, Poplar Bluff, Caruthersville, Hayti, Deering and Senath Hornersville.

Varsity and freshmen are both scheduled to compete in the annual Scott - Mississippi meet at Charleston tomorrow.

Sikeston and Charleston are expected to be the leaders in this tourney of six teams from both Scott and Mississippi counties.

Week's SHS sporting battles will end on Friday as the varsity tracksters will take part in the Northern Division conference contest at Charleston.

Top area squads are set to attend the contest with Poplar Bluff, Charleston and Kennett expected to pave the way.

Poplar Bluff and Kennett finished very close in an earlier meet, but the Mules will probably have the edge Friday.

Coach Jim Graham related that the Bulldogs may be slightly under full strength in this week's competition as runners Arthur Jackson, Tom Dunn, and Henry Gross are bothered with injuries.

Bulldog Golfers Lace Kennett

Sikeston Bulldog golfers bettered their season's slate to 2-0 last Friday as they defeated the Kennett Indians by a considerable margin of 166-188 at Kennett.

Bulldog scores were all above par, but were also all under the tallies turned in by the host team.

Junior Jim Warf again led the visiting Bulldogs with a three over par total of 38. This gives Jim a two meet average of 37.

Following scores for the Bulldogs saw Mike Shaffer next in line at 41, Tom Dawson at 42, Jim Godsey at 45, Paul Johnson at 49, and Ken Real finished with a 54-swing total.

Bulldogs' next match will be held today as they again go against Kennett today's match will take place on the Sikeston course.

SEMO BASKETBALL product Ben Johnson, left, signs grant-in-aid scholarship to attend Arkansas State University as A-State Assistant Coach John Rose, center, and Bob Cradic, Three Rivers Junior College coach, look on. Johnson starred at Hayti North High School before two standout seasons at Three Rivers.

Arkansas State Signs Area Cage Ace

JONESBORO — One of 13 rebounds this year for Coach Bob Cradic's team at Three Rivers. An All-Region Six selection this year he hit on 74.6 per cent of his free throws and 52.7 per cent of his field goal attempts. His top game was a 43-point performance.

Ben Johnson, a two-year star at Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff, Mo., and prior to that a stalwart at Hayti, Mo., Rivers, Johnson was the most valuable player on the team and won the rebounding and free throw award. He also won three averaged 20.9 points a game and awards this year in addition to leading the team in scoring. While in high school at Hayti, Johnson was a two-year all-district and all-conference performer for Coach Norman Nelson. In his senior year he was an honorable mention All-Stater.

Assistant Coach John Rose said that the Indians would use Johnson at a forward spot. "He has good quickness and he is a first rate rebounder and scorer," said Rose.

Cards Bow to Expos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Kansas City Royals, with seven games under their belts, five of them victories, have moved into a 1½ game lead in the American League's West Division.

The Royals won their fifth Monday night against Seattle, the league's other expansion team of 1969, defeating the Pilots 2-1 as reliever Dave Wickersham came on with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to record the final out.

Earlier, the defending National League champion St. Louis Cardinals helped Montreal launch its first home major league season by bowing to the Expos 8-7 before a standing room only crowd of nearly 30,000.

It was a wild, error-filled game, that was highlighted by a grand slam homer by the Cards' Del Maxvill, a solo shot by Joe Torre, and a three-run homer and a two-run triple by Montreal's Mack Jones.

The winning run scored in the seventh on Coco Laboy's double and Dan McGinn's single.

McGinn was the winning pitcher in relief allowing only three hits over five and one-third innings. The loss went to Gary Waslewski.

The one-game stand between Seattle and Kansas City was essentially a pitchers' battle for the Royals Roger Nelson and Mike Marshall of the Pilots. Each allowed six hits and struck out six. Nelson walked five and Marshall four.

Seattle scored in the first inning on a double by Tommy Harper and two infield outs.

The Royals tied it in the sixth when Jack Hernandez beat out a bunt, Joe Keough was safe on an errant grounder, and a checked-swing hit by Joye Foy scored Hernandez.

Foy got his fourth straight single in the eighth and later scored on a fielding error by the Pilots shortstop John Kennedy who booted a Jerry Adair grounder and the ball rolled into shallow left field.

The Royals are idle today, moving into Chicago for a game with the White Sox Wednesday afternoon.

Coins to Commemorate Ft. Sill Centennial Year

FORT SILL, Okla. (ANF) — Silver and bronze coins, specially struck at a Pennsylvania mint, will commemorate Fort Sill's centennial year in 1969, marking 100 years of progress from a tiny cavalry camp to a sophisticated center of field artillery.

A limited number of silver coins priced at $10 each and bronze coins at $1 each are available by mail order from the Fort Sill Centennial Project Office, Fort Sill, Okla., 73503.

Proceeds from the sale of the coins will go toward financing the post's centennial year projects.

Today, the Fort Sill U.S. Army Field Artillery Center annually trains thousands of soldiers in handling all phases of field artillery. Additionally, the center conducts an officer candidate school, an NCO academy, a drill sergeant school and an instructor training course.

Since 1965, the center has been engaged in activating, reorganizing, and deploying specially trained units to Vietnam to provide combined arms capability.

Footwear Joins Unisex Parade

MALE AND FEMALE MONK-STRAPS. Over high-rising tongue of his winey brown smooth leather slip-on (left) rides wide monk-strap (by American Gentleman); on her foot (right), Golo's wine-colored alligator-grained patent leather pants shoe also has wide monk-strap with crescent buckle.

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Footwear manufacturers have finally gotten around to joining the unisex fashion parade with an array of matched, "he or she" shoes.

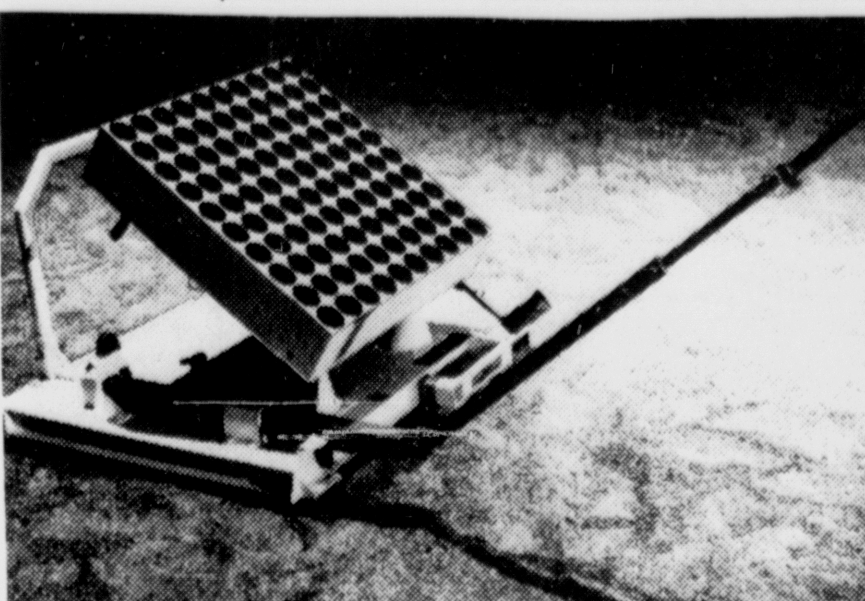

The shoes are not identical of course — not yet at least — but they are cut in similar styles with look-alike trims.

Leather Industries of America reports several clear trends, including the demand for metal buckles, chains, studs and bands on shoes of all kinds.

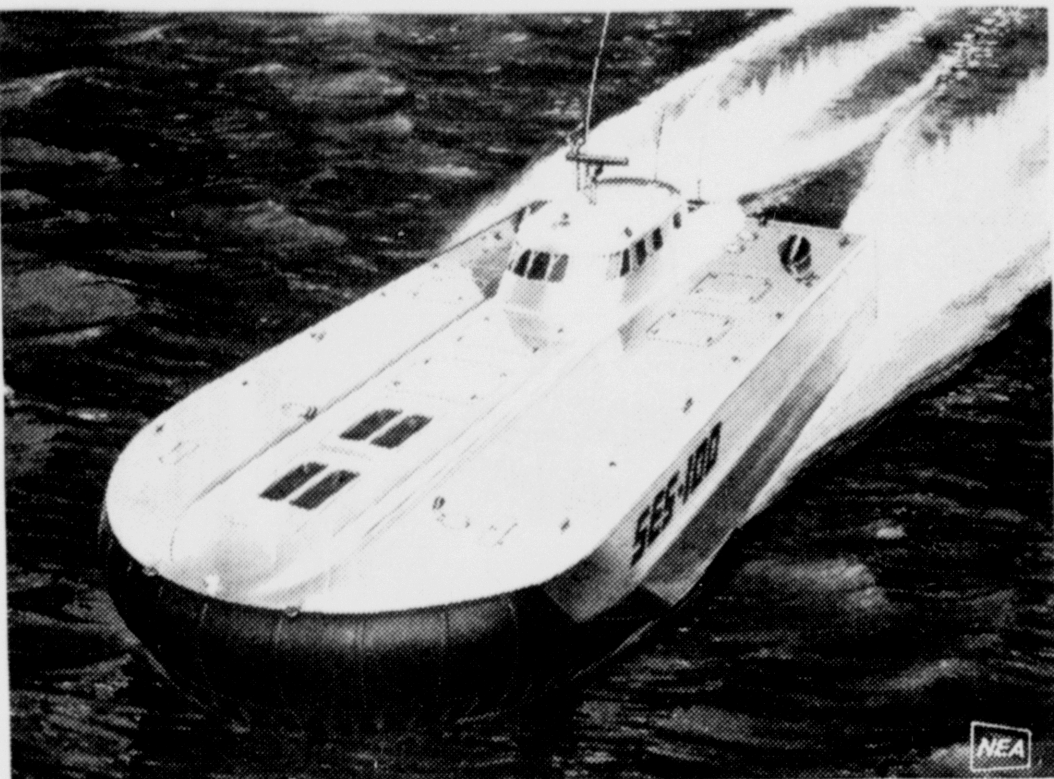

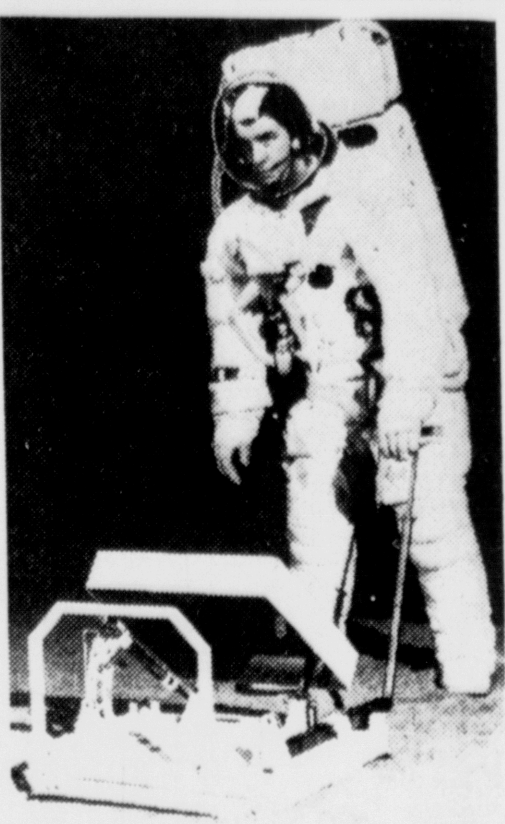

Heels are low for men, low to chunky mid-height for women. Materials include polished smooth and glazed leathers, suede, grained leathers and embossed or antiqued hides. They're available in a wide range of colors.

Sandals are popular with both sexes. Most of them feature small cut outs near the back of the foot, seldom in front or at the toe.

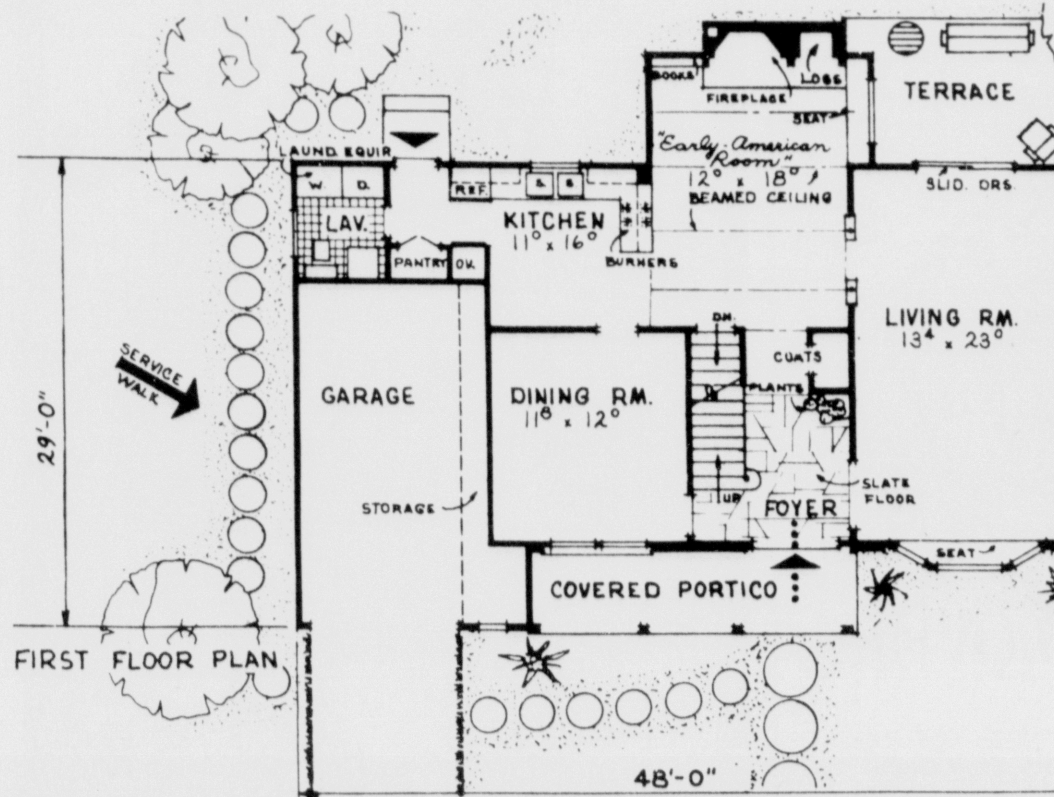

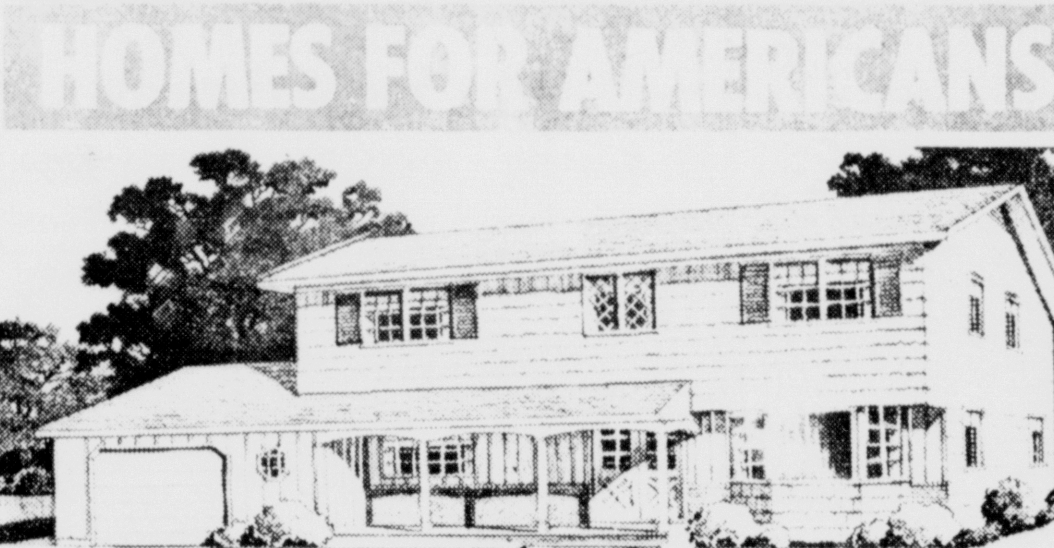

Another favorite is the high-tongued slip-on, often decorated with brass or silver hardware, monk straps, spectator-style trim or leather fringe.

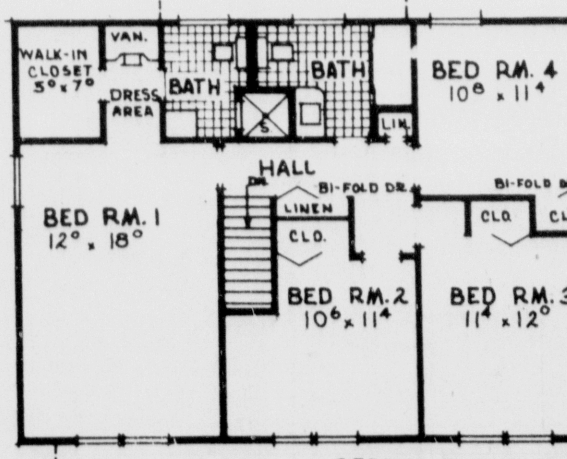

MADE FOR THE MOON, the device above, called a Laser Ranging Retro-Reflector, is designed to serve as a target on the lunar surface for communications from earth via laser, highly concentrated beams of light. The reflector is expected, among other things, to measure the earth's wobble on its axis and check the theory that the continents drift on the surface of the earth. Right, Ron Redick of Bendix Aerospace at Ann Arbor, Mich., NASA contractor for the experiment, demonstrates how an astronaut will operate the reflector.

AIR BUBBLE is the secret of this speedster to be built as a test craft for eventual ocean transports. Called a Surface Effect Ship, it literally rides on a bubble created by lift fans forcing air beneath the hull, reducing drag. The theoretical result will be unheard of water speeds of up to 80 knots—92 m.p.h. Artist's sketch shows the 100-ton test craft Bell Aerosystems of Buffalo, N.Y., is building under Maritime Administration contract.

THIS TWO-STORY HOUSE gives best dollar value. The foyer, with slate floor and brick planter, leads into the large living room, which has bay window and seat. Sliding glass doors go out to the rear terrace. The "Early American Room" has beamed ceiling, fireplace, log bin and bookcase. Adjoining kitchen has a double-bowl sink. The rear entrance is between the kitchen and laundry-lavatory. A separate, almost-square dining room is provided. The second floor has four bedrooms, three of which are double exposed. Architect for HAS86Y is Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432. It has 1,054 square feet on the first floor and 936 on the second.

PORTAGEVILLE - One hundred persons attended a reception at the New Madrid County Library Easter Sunday afternoon honoring three southeast Missouri artists whose works are on exhibit at the library during April.

The artists, Mrs. Roberta Hunter, East Prairie, Robert McCollum and Bill Lybarger of Charleston greeted visitors and explained various paintings and pieces of ceramics being shown. The reception was sponsored by the library staff with the help of Michael Boon, Tommy Dial and Hank Workman, who are students at the Conran Elementary School.

The public is invited to visit the exhibit at the library during this month.

Pay for Destroying Tree

By Jack Strauss, J.L.B.

Byron was the proud owner of a stately old Oak tree that stood near the property line of his neighbor, Mr. Mod, and annually, the tree produced acorns that annually drove Mr. Mod mad. Each fall, the acorns would drop onto Mr. Mod's property from overhanging branches and clog his pipes and sewers.

As a result, a plumber would practically have to move in with Mr. Mod to keep the pipes and sewers in working condition. After years of having the acorns drive him nutty, Mr. Mod finally decided to take matters into his own hands. Since Byron refused to cut off the overhanging branches, Mr. Mod waited for him to go away on vacation and hired several men to cut down the offending tree. When he returned and found his stately oak lying in state, Byron sued Mr. Mod for destroying his property.

"He had no right to come onto my land and to chop down my tree," Byron fumed in court. "It was like committing murder."

"It was more like self-defense," retorted Mr. Mod. "If I hadn't destroyed that tree, it would have destroyed me, mentally. Since Byron had refused to correct the situation, I had a right to do what I did."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the mad Mr. Mod pay for chopping down Byron's offending tree?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while it sympathized with Mr. Mod's problem, he was not justified in taking the law into his own hands even to accomplish what Byron should have done. It is well established, noted the judge, that a property owner may cut off overhanging branches of a neighbor's tree, or to sue the neighbor for damages and to make him cut down the branches, but he may not enter upon his neighbor's property and cut down the tree.

(Based upon a 1950 California District Court of Appeals Decision)

Structure of Antibody Clue Discovered

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

Scientists have found a clue to the mystery of how you stay alive and healthy despite attacks by billions of germs and viruses.

Their achievement, announced today, might help in building better defenses against diseases. And it might also assist in combating nature's law that your body should reject a borrowed heart, kidney or other organ.

Scientists of the Rockefeller University in New York City have spelled out, for the first time, the complete chemical structure of an antibody.

Antibodies are protein molecules that destroy or eliminate anything foreign to you as an individual—whether it be bacteria, a virus like the one which causes Hong Kong flu, or even a transplanted heart that you desperately need.

Any such foreign substance is known as an antigen. The antibody formed against it is thus a key chemical in immunity, nature's defensive mechanism.

Part of it recognizes the foreign "something" or antigen in the dark interior of the living body when they touch. Once it locks in on the antigen, the rest of the antibody acts as a policeman to neutralize the invader.

The feat of determining the exact chemical structure of an antibody was reported by Prof. Gerald M. Edelman at opening sessions of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

"We believe that we are now closer to a satisfactory explanation of the chemical and genetic bases for the immunity process," he said.

Dr. Edelman and associates have chemically analyzed a pure antibody or immunoglobulin, produced in a patient with a tumor known as myeloma.

Dr. Edelman's collaborators included Dr. Bruce A. Cunningham, Dr. Myron J. Waxdal, W. Einer Gall, Paul D. Gottlieb, Urs Rutishauser, and Dr. William H. Konigsberg, now at Yale University.

Few Deserters In Sweden True War Objectors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition to the Vietnam war motivated only a relatively small number of the American soldiers who have deserted to Sweden in recent years, according to an Army study.

Any Army study of the 116 soldiers listed as deserters to Sweden says more defected because of disciplinary problems than as a protest to U.S. involvement in the Vietnam fighting.

The report said of the 116 cases, 56 soldiers deserted because of disciplinary problems, 39 defected because of opposition to the war and there were no known reasons for the remaining 21.

The study used the files of the 116 men to construct this profile of a typical Army deserter in Sweden:

"He is a regular Army soldier, nearly 23 years old and has had three years of high school."

"He is single, had no civilian occupation or skill, came from the more highly populated states, could not adjust to Army life, and was a disciplinary problem before he defected."

The document omitted the names of the individual defectors while summarizing the information from the files of each one of them.

Among the disciplinary problems, involving civilian and military offenses other than desertion, were repeated AWOL, drug abuse, indebtedness and stealing.

Of the 116 total, 92 were regular Army men, 23 were draftees and one was a reservist. The Army said deserted to avoid being called to active duty.

Fifty-nine had no civilian occupations, while 19 had been laborers, 12 had held clerical jobs, one was an attorney, one was an entertainer and one a ski instructor before military service. There was no record of civilian jobs for the remaining 23.

There are 66,000 miles of highways in Texas.

Want ads make a world of difference...

THE WORLD OVER.

And the difference is that, through Want Ads, people are able to communicate their needs to one another easily, quickly and at relatively little cost.

Want Ads have become an accepted means of communication the world over. In fact, they are used by more people than any other form of advertising.

In Japan alone, over one hundred and thirty newspapers publish Want Ads each day, offering millions of readers this indispensable public service.

The Standard Want Ad Department is pleased to join with thousands of other newspapers the world over in observing a salute to the wonderful world of Want Ads during International Want Ad Week.

Academy Awards
Feature Surprises

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The second tie in the 41-year history of the Academy Awards gives Oscars to both Barbra Streisand of "Funny Girl" and Katharine Hepburn of "The Lion in Winter" — and makes Miss Hepburn the first three-time winner.

Cliff Robertson in the role of the mentally retarded man whom doctors turn temporarily into a genius in "Charly" was named best actor of 1968 at Monday night's presentations.

"Oliver!", a musical spectacle based on Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," was voted the year's best picture. It won in five categories, including best director laurels for Sir Carol Reed with this, his first musical.

For supporting performances, the honors went to Jack Albertson as the blustering father in "The Subject Was Roses" and Ruth Gordon as the meddling neighbor and part-time witch in "Rosemary's Baby."

Races in all the top categories were close, but the selection of "Oliver!" as best picture over "The Lion in Winter" was a surprise to some observers. "The academy voters apparently wanted entertainment this year," one veteran Oscar watcher commented.

Ingrid Bergman, presenting the best-actress Oscar, looked stunned and unbelieving as she opened the envelope containing the winners' names and exclaimed: "It's a tie!"

A tie happened only once before, in 1932, when best-actor awards went to both Fredric March for "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and Wallace Beery for "The Champ."

Miss Hepburn, 59, this year became the record holder for Oscar nominations with 11. Her previous awards as best actress were for work in "Morning Glory," 1933, and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," last year. She is the first triple winner in the lead actor category, either male or female. Miss Hepburn also is the second star to win twice in succession. Luise Rainer accomplished this in the 1930s.

Walter Brennan, has won three Oscars but they were for supporting roles.

Miss Hepburn, who won as the queenly Eleanor of Aquitaine in "The Lion in Winter," didn't attend the ceremonies — just as she didn't the other two times she won. She was reported to be in New York.

Robertson, on location in the Philippines, was another absentee.

Miss Streisand, the Brooklyn girl who won with a rollicking portrayal of Fanny Brice in "Funny Girl," her first movie, said from the podium: "I'm very honored to be in such magnificent company as Katharine Hepburn. The first script of "Funny Girl" was written when I was 11 years old. Thank God it took so long to get it right."

"It's like when somebody asked if I'm happy, I said, 'Are you kidding? If I was happy I'd be miserable.' I'd like to thank all the members of the academy for making me miserable."

Asked about her comments backstage, she said: "Maybe some people are basically happy when they're miserable."

She said the award was "really unexpected. I never gave it much thought. I enjoy the work, and to get the award for it is just whipped cream on the cake."

There was no explanation of the tie balloting among the 3,030 voting members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Vote totals are never announced.

For best song the Oscar went to the intricate melody, "The Windmills of Your Mind," sung by Noel Harrison in "The Thomas Crown Affair." The French composer, Michel Legrand, was in Paris, working on another film score. The husband-wife lyricists, Marilyn and Alan Bergman, accepted their Oscars.

The Soviet Union's 6½-hour spectacle, "War and Peace," collected the award for best foreign language film. It was presented to the picture's beautiful, dark-haired star, Ludmila Savalyeva.

Writing winners were James Goldman for adaptation of his play, "The Lion in Winter," and comedian-scenarist Mel Brooks for his original screenplay of "The Producers."

The award to the gray-haired, balding Albertson capped a long career ranging from burlesque comedy to vaudeville, theater and supporting movie roles.

"My eternal gratitude will always be reserved for the man who made this moment possible, Frank Gilroy, who wrote 'The Subject Was Roses,'" Albertson said. There were tears in his eyes as he addressed the crowd of 3,000 in the Music Center Pavilion and a nationwide television audience.

Backstage, Albertson remarked that he won Broadway's Tony award in the play and that author Gilroy "insisted I do both the play and the movie."

The 72-year-old Miss Gordon drew loud laughter by admitting she made her film debut in 1915 and: "I can't tell you how

MAVERICK — newest breed from the Ford Division corral — goes on sale in America's Ford dealerships on Thursday, April 17. Seating a family of four and offering economy of purchase and operation, it is aimed at boosting Ford sales in the booming small car market and serving the needs of buyers who formerly went to imports.

Maverick Now At Sikeston Motor Co.

Sikeston Motor Co., 127 W. Malone in Sikeston, Mo. will introduce the long heralded 1970 Maverick, new small car from Ford Division, on Thursday, April 17.

This $1,995 car is a two-door sedan of modified fastback design with a hint of an air spoiler or "ducktail" at the rear. Designed to carry a family of four with adequate luggage, it is powered by a six-cylinder engine in either of two sizes, 170 or 200 cubic inch displacements. In normal city-suburban driving, Maverick can be expected to deliver 22½ miles per gallon or 28½ mpg on the highway.

John Naughton, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, calls Maverick "the greatest automotive value ever offered in terms of price, upkeep and features included at no extra cost."

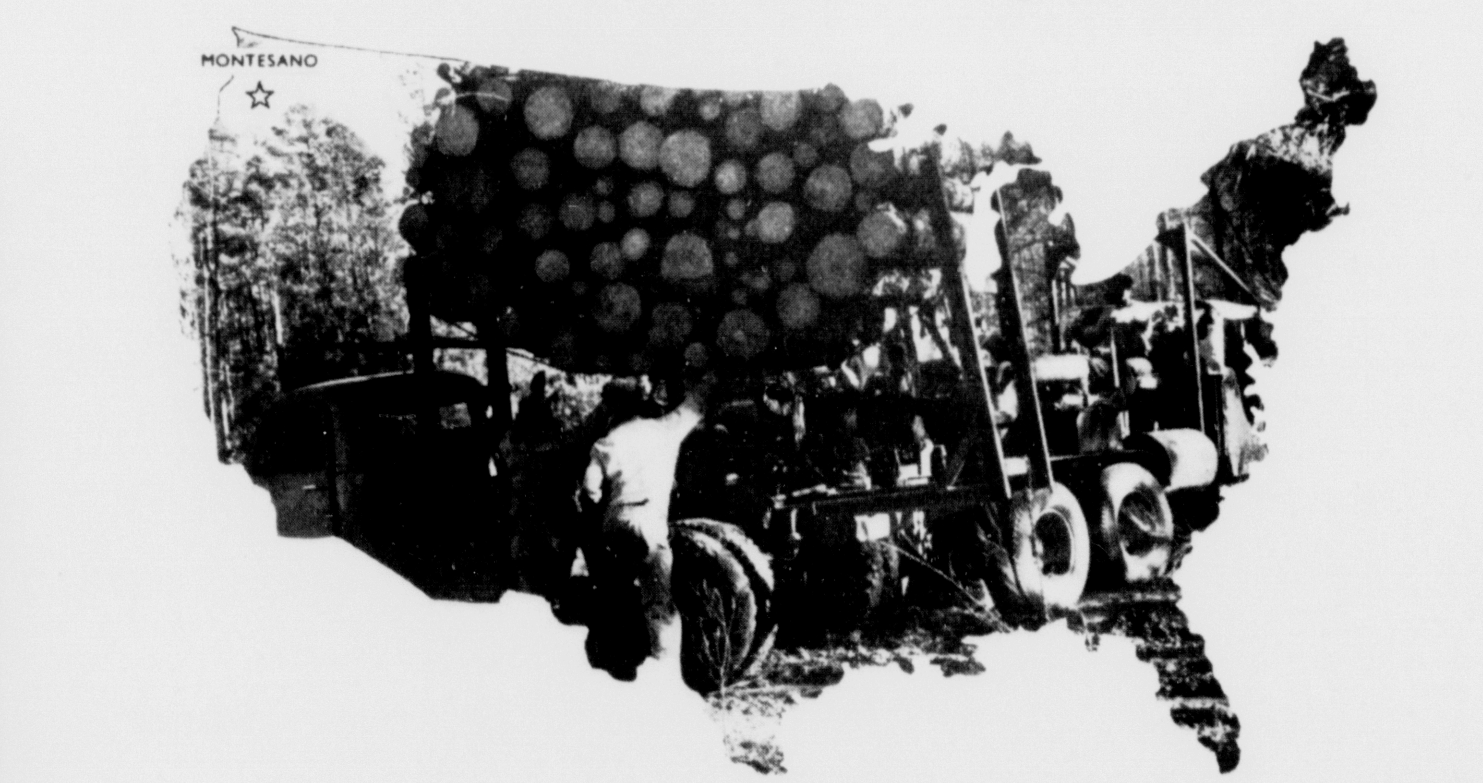

Planned to be economical in purchase price, operating cost and maintenance, Maverick offers a longer, lower, wider body than the principal import, yet turns in a tighter radius for independent kind of car," said Clint Elledge of Sikeston Motor Co.

Transmission choice includes the fully synchronized three-speed manual, the three-speed automatic with optional shift-for-yourself compacts. Even some of the feature, and, for the first time, a color names carry out the car's new semi-automatic individualistic character — transmission. Cheaper than the Thanks Vermillion, Hulla Blue, automatic and clutchless, it Freudian Gilt, Anti-Establish permits a change of gears with a Mint and Original Cinnamon."

Manufacturer's suggested single movement of the hand lever.

"Maverick will live up to its retail price for Maverick in name in being a unique, $1,995.

Tree Farming Assures Many Benefits

Growing Trees to Meet the Nation's Needs

It started on June 12, 1941, near Montesano, Wash., where forest industry leaders dedicated one forest—120,000 acres—to growing and harvesting repeated crops of trees.

Today there are almost 30,000 Tree Farms, 67 million acres in all states except Alaska and Hawaii, owned and managed by individuals and companies.

Tree farming, multiple use management of privately owned forest land, assures a continuing supply of raw material for lumber, paper, plywood, chemicals and 5,000 more essential products. It protects our water supply at the source, supports wildlife, and provides recreational opportunities and scenic beauty.

Our company is proud to be among many forest products manufacturers and landowners who sponsor the American Tree Farm System through their educational organization, American Forest Products Industries, Inc.
